GOP Presidential Hopefuls Pile Into Convention City

Pennsylvania Caucus May Be Deciding Factor In Final Nominee

PHILADELPHIA, June 19.—(AP)—Four Republican presidential possibilities come piling into town tomorrow to jump into the pre-convention maneuvering for ballots.

And all of them will be eyeing a Pennsylvania caucus that could be a big factor—perhaps the deciding one—in determining how long the convention lasts and whom it picks for the presidential race.

Today the preliminaries tapered off. Tomorrow will be different. Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York parades into town around noon Sunday.

Coming up from Washington are Senators Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan. Vandenberg's position is a question mark.

Moving in from California is Gov. Earl Warren and a delegation pledged to keep 53 votes on the line for him. Of all the two-spot contenders, only former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota is on the scene so far. He told a news conference 300 delegates are war veterans and he will get a majority of them on the first ballot.

Lots of rumors of "deals" and "bits of slander" will crop up before the convention starts Monday, Stassen said, but:

"We'll have no part of either." Dewey's campaign manager, Herbert Brownell, said a few minutes later that the New York governor's prospects are "better than they have ever been at any time."

Brownell repeated that Dewey will have more votes than anyone else on the first ballot next Wednesday, or Thursday. And he said that in conferences yesterday and last night "we added substantially to our reserve strength of votes that will come to us after the first ballot."

Summarizing a week of activities here on behalf of Gov. Dewey, Brownell told his second news conference of the day:

"It looks like Dewey in Philadelphia. I reiterate our claim with more emphasis than ever that Dewey will be (Continued on Seventh Page)

ARMS SHIPMENTS WILL BE SMALL

Decision Reflects State Department's Belief In Russian Future

WASHINGTON, June 19.—(AP)—The United States has reluctantly decided it can send only very small quantities of American arms and ammunition to Western European nations this year, government officials reported today.

Only a grave European crisis involving Russia could cause the administration to reverse this decision—and then only if congress gave special approval.

Lions' Guest

D. A. Skeen, of Salt Lake City, past international president, will be a prominent speaker at the convention here.

CONVENTION OF LIONS TO OPEN

Will Hold Two-Day Meet Here; 1,000 Visitors Are Expected

When the 25th annual convention of District 8, of Lions International opens here, the Monroe and West Monroe clubs will be host for the two days, Monday and Tuesday, of the state-wide meeting.

The large delegations are expected to start arriving today and will fill Hotels Virginia and Frances full to overflowing. Many will find quarters in private homes among old-time friends.

Past International President D. A. Skeen of Salt Lake City, Utah will be the principal speaker Monday when he will address the noon luncheon in the Crystal Ballroom of Hotel Virginia and also will speak at the first business session to be held Monday at Central Grammar School auditorium Monday at 3:30 p.m. He also will address the district governors' banquet Monday at 8 p.m. on the roof of Hotel Frances.

Mr. Skeen is an eminent attorney, a leader in public affairs of his native state, a consultant to United Nations meeting at San Francisco and likewise at the Dumbarton Oaks conference. He has been exceptionally active in international affairs for the past seven years.

There will be two luncheons on the opening day of the conference and two dinners in the evening. Luncheon will be in the Crystal Ballroom of Hotel Virginia and the Cherokee Terrace of Hotel Frances. The district governors' banquet at 8 p.m. will be held both at Cherokee Terrace at Hotel Frances and Virginia Hotel, Crystal Ballroom.

Hon. James D. Arrington will also speak on Monday at both the noon luncheon at the district governors' banquet Monday evening at Virginia hotel, Mr. Arrington is one of the most unique speakers in the country. His unusual style is considerably different from the usual speaker of his kind. His services are greatly in demand (Continued on Sixth Page)

PRELIMINARY GOP PLATFORM DRAWN WITH FOREIGN PLANK

PHILADELPHIA, June 19.—(AP)—A secret preliminary draft of the 1948 G. O. P. platform was drawn today, embodying a foreign affairs plank—opposite to cold-shoulder isolationism and a call for continued U. S. world leadership to resist communism and keep the peace.

But the platform writers, working behind closed doors, were thrown into a dilemma by the late jam in congress that split Republicans there on important international and domestic issues. The convention group decided not to disclose platform details until the final draft is drawn.

BOARD OF INQUIRY SET UP FOR STUDY OF COAL ARGUMENT

Contract Scheduled To Expire June 30, President Asks Quick Action

TRUMAN STRESSES NEED FOR REPORT WEDNESDAY

WASHINGTON, June 19.—(AP)—President Truman set up a Taft-Hartley board of inquiry today in an effort to wipe out the threat of another nationwide soft coal strike next month.

Impressed with the need for swift action, the president asked the three-member board to report by Wednesday. The coal contract expires June 30. The miners begin a 10-day vacation June 26.

Appointed to the board were David E. Cole, Paterson, N. J., lawyer and labor arbitrator, chairman; E. Wight Bakke, professor of economics at Yale University; and Waldo Amanuel Fisher, professor of industrial relations at the University of Pennsylvania.

The president must have a report from the board before instructing Attorney General Clark to ask for another court injunction to halt a strike. The type of injunction called for in the Taft-Hartley act would delay a walkout for 80 days—if the (Continued on Sixth Page)

TRUCE EXTENSION MAY BE SOUGHT

Bernadotte Might Seek Longer Working Period If First Effort Fails

RHODES, June 19.—(AP)—The possibility arose today that Count Folke Bernadotte may ask that the four-week truce in Palestine be extended. Such a request would have to come through the U. N. security council.

The question of an extension will come up, it is believed, if the U. N. mediator fails before the end of the truce to find a chink in the determined stands of both Arabs and Jews through which the basis of an understanding might be driven.

"Certainly these people should not be allowed to go on killing each other," said one of Bernadotte's aides today.

The Swedish count arrived at his headquarters here yesterday to begin a task at which 20 other missions have failed since the First World War. His staff says he is moving cautiously, step by step, with permanent peace as the goal.

The first step, the temporary four-week truce, he considers successful so far.

FARM PROGRAM IS LOST AFTER LONG CONFERENCE FAILS

Senate, House Committee In 'Total Disagreement' On Aspects Of Bill

PRICE SUPPORT LEVELS DROP TO 1938 FIGURES

WASHINGTON, June 19.—(AP)—Conferees from the senate and house started a new effort late tonight to work out an agreement on farm legislation once given up for dead.

The groups broke up late this afternoon in such complete disagreement that the house members would not even sign a report saying they could compromise the measures passed by the two branches.

Senator Aiken (R-Vt.), chief senate representative, said then that "this means the end of a farm program." After 9 p. m. eastern standard time, however, as conferees struggled to finish its business and adjourn, the conference committee agreed to get together again.

Aiken heads a senate group pushing a new long range program. The house representatives wanted a stop-gap extension of present government price and loan supports.

Aiken said senators still would insist that house conferees give the house a chance to vote on the long range senate bill.

Aiken said the failure of senate and house representatives to come to any agreement will mean that on Jan. 1, 1949, the price support levels will revert to 1938 figures.

The 1938 figures provide props only for six basic commodities at from 52 to 75 per cent of parity, as compared with the present level of 90 per cent of parity for most important crops.

Parity is a formula for prices designed to give farmers purchasing power equal to that they enjoyed in a previous, favorable period. Parity usually is figured on a 1909-1914 average.

The house had voted an 18-month stop-gap extension of the present program, with a few revisions.

The senate, on the other hand, had voted a permanent new program calling for varying price supports at slightly lower levels than those now in effect.

Aiken said he holds no hope and (Continued on Sixth Page)

Russians Use Tanks To Back Restriction

Soviet Occupation Zone Guarded By Steel Ring To Prevent Influx Of Devalued German Currency

(By Associated Press) Russian tanks and armored cars on the Soviet-West German border last night backed up new travel restrictions laid down by the Russians.

Travel into the Soviet occupation zone was stopped and freight traffic restricted into the Russian zone and Berlin Friday at midnight.

The Russians said they were guarding against a heavy influx of old German reichsmarks which soon will be of no value in the western zone when the new deutsche reichmark becomes the monetary unit.

All incoming freight and freight train personnel were being carefully scrutinized and Allied and German travel into Berlin had been halted.

Russian tanks were sent up to the border at the Soviet-American control point near Eisenach after the restrictions were announced. The British rolled up 10 armored cars at the Helldorf control point on the British-Soviet zone border. Later the British cars were withdrawn to their stations.

Rail and water traffic from the west was carefully inspected, and traffic was jammed for 60 miles from Helldorf to Hannover, the British said.

German travelers said Russian soldiers and German police were posted in trenches along the border line.

West-bound travel from Berlin and the Soviet zone generally was allowed.

Jes' Ramblin'

Just an echo of Huey P. Long was heard in a class at Louisiana State University the past week. The instructor incidentally told his class, but they did not know, that the late governor was completely devoted to football as the royal sport for the university. It so happened that Ringling Bros. circus was booked for Baton Rouge on the very day that there was to be a big football game there. The L. S. U. football coach went to the advance agent of the circus and asked that the date of the circus showing be changed. "The circus never changes a date," he was told in stentorian tones. This was reported back to university authorities and next the chief of police of Baton Rouge was implored to take some action. He in turn approached the circus representatives and instructed that the circus could not show on the date the game was scheduled. The circus man replied that a circus never changes its dates.

GOP Chiefs Leave Recall Way Open

Taft Indicates December 31 As Date For Next Session Unless Special Circumstances, Truman May Act

WASHINGTON, June 19.—(AP)—Congress completed action on a peacetime draft tonight, approached a decision on foreign aid money, and got set to adjourn subject to recall by Republican chiefs.

Draft and foreign aid were the two big controversies that had threatened the plan to quit tonight, though there were others still outstanding, including a farm program. Housing legislation was shelved.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) chairman of the senate Republican steering committee, told reporters the two houses would quit after tonight's session under a resolution probably setting Dec. 31 as the date for a next meeting unless there is a special session.

"We might recall congress between the conventions, after the conventions, or even after the elections," Taft said in answer to questions on the leadership's plans.

President Truman also could call the lawmakers back.

Regardless of what the Republican chiefs might do, many Democrats indicated a belief the president would summon a special session to act on housing legislation and a long-range farm plan.

Taft said housing was "out" for this session after failure even to get conferees together to work out a compromise between senate and house plans.

Under the Republican adjournment plan the lawmakers could be called back by House Speaker Martin (Mass.), House Republican Leader Halleck (Ind.), Acting Senator Majority Leader Wherry (Nebr.), and Senator Vandenberg (Mich.), president of the senate.

The plan was laid, at a G. O. P. leaders conference after conferees for the senate and house had agreed on a $600,000,000 foreign aid program described as a 15-months proposition, but permitting the president to spend all the money in 12 months if he considered it necessary.

That is the senate's plan and the administration's plan, except for the device of calling it a 15-months project. Senate acceptance was taken for granted, but whether the house would go along was another question. That branch had provided a little less money and made the period definitely 15 months.

The draft measure got to the house after the senate had broken a night-long filibuster by Senators Taylor (D-Idaho) and Langer (R-N.D.) and passed it by a voice vote. It was hard fought again in the house, but got through on a 259 to 136 roll call vote.

It brings back conscription for two years, with men aged 19 through 25 to be called into service for 21 months but with nobody to be inducted until 90 days after passage. The house originally had voted for one year's service and the senate for two.

Another delay-threatening controversy was sidestepped when senate Republican leaders practically abandoned efforts to get action on housing legislation.

TRUMAN IS GIVEN DRAFT START JOB

House Gives Final Approval To Proposal After Senate Compromises

WASHINGTON, June 19.—(AP)—Congress completed its work tonight on a bill to draft young men for peacetime military service. It was only remaining for President Truman to sign it into law.

A roll call vote of 259 to 136 in the house sent the bill to the White House on the last scheduled night of the 80th congress.

Joining to pass the bill in the house were 123 Republicans and 136 Democrats. Opposed were 103 Republicans, 31 Democrats and two American Labor party members.

It earlier had to survive a night-long senate filibuster by Senator Taylor of Idaho, Henry A. Wallace's ex-partly ruined mate, and Senator Langer (R-N.D.).

The senate, after Taylor had been elbowed from the floor, passed the compromise by voice vote this morning.

Tonight the house took it up. Typical of the hour's debate there were these stands:

By Rep. Wadsworth (R-N.Y.), author and co-sponsor of the World War II draft law:

"What goes on here tonight will be known in the country around the world tomorrow."

"The protection of our liberty involves sacrifice and of course this bill involves some sacrifice. But I think it is a sacrifice very well worth the making."

By Rep. Mitchell (R-Ind.), that the measure is desired only "for the brass hats."

Mitchell said there are from 3,000,000 to 4,000,000 combat-trained veterans in this country who will fight again if necessary.

The bill passed tonight would expire in two years, unless extended.

The bill—to draft men aged 19 through 25 for 21 months service—was shoved through to unanimous senate passage after Senator Taylor (D-Idaho) had been allowed off the floor for saying things other senators said were derogatory to them in his filibuster speech.

Taylor had been talking against time since 3:37 p. m. Eastern Standard Time yesterday, except for a post-midnight break of five hours and 13 minutes. Senator Langer (R-N.D.) another conscription opponent, gave him that breather.

GOVERNOR LONG'S PLATFORM STANDS VIRTUALLY FINISHED

BATON ROUGE, La., June 19.—(AP)—The bottom of Gov. Earl K. Long's basket of legislative proposals is in sight, although the Louisiana lawmakers still have three weeks of session ahead when they reconvene tomorrow night.

The house has its work cut out, at least for the early part of the week. The $263,000,000 budget has been set as a special order of business Monday. As the legislators go through the omnibus measure's 120 schedules, there probably will be numerous attempts from the floor to increase an item here and there. Some of the state colleges especially, are expected to seek raises through the representatives from their areas.

But the governor has asked for approval of the appropriations bill as written and the powerful administration majority presumably should have the bill by the end of the week to start it on the last lap of its legislative journey.

Already in the senate with a favorable committee report is the administration's last major revenue measure—the proposed three-cent hike in the state cigarette tax.

The governor's reorganization program is virtually complete. The bills abolishing the department of institutions and reorganizing the department of highways are law. A measure wiping out another major creation of former Gov. Sam H. Jones' administration—the department of finance—and substituting a division of administration in the governor's office has been passed by the house and reported favorably to the senate floor.

Governor Long's announcement of his stand on proposals to reorganize the high command of the state university and colleges apparently has cleared the way for a speedy settlement of that controversy. He favors retention of a separate board for the university, with the members' terms shortened, and a new board to take over from the department of education the administration of the colleges. Either house may start writing the compromise into law by amending pending bills.

One of the major controversies of the session has been under cover for weeks—the proposals to revise radically or abolish outright the state civil service system. The bills have been resting in committees in both houses. If there is to be action on them, it may begin this week.

The customary jam in which many bills get caught and die towards the end of a session is building up. Any measures not out of the house where they originated by the end of this week will be in danger, unless there is a powerful thrust behind them.

The house returns to work tomorrow night, but probably will handle little controversial legislation before Monday. The senate, taking perhaps its last long breather of the session, is in recess until Monday night.

WATER SHORTAGE PLAGUES W. SIDE

Mayor Bell Points Out Dangerous Fire Hazard In Existence There

An ordinary house fire in West Monroe could not be extinguished with the present critically low water supply, Mayor C. C. Bell, Jr., said yesterday afternoon while pointing out the extremely dangerous situation that exists during most summer months in that city.

The reason for the inadequate supply on hand, the mayor said, is that in mid-summer months residents persist in using an excess amount of water for their lawns, gardens and in washing their automobiles. This decreases the amount essential for fire-fighting.

At an informal supper Friday night, the city council decided to first ask the cooperation of West Monroe residents in conserving water, and if they do not cooperate, to pass an ordinance making it unlawful to water gardens, wash cars, or in any other way waste water during certain hours of the day.

"This is for the safety of our people," the mayor stated, "and any violator of such an ordinance would be subject to fine."

"As the situation now stands," the mayor explained, "we have only two wells in operation. Both wells were put into use ten years ago and were sufficient to supply an adequate amount of water at that time. Since 1938, the population of West Monroe has nearly doubled, producing a serious water shortage during hot, dry months."

Mayor Bell pointed out that the city has another well ready for use nearly a half mile from the others past (Continued on Sixth Page)

INVESTMENTS BY PUBLIC IS URGED

Mayor H. H. Benoit In Proclamation Praises U. S. Savings Program

In connection with the increase for certain institutional investors savings from $100,000 to $1,000,000 when paid for from July 1 to July 15, as announced by Attorney Thomas M. Hayes, Jr., Ouachita parish chairman of the security loan campaign, Mayor H. H. Benoit has issued the following proclamation:

WHEREAS the prayer of every man and woman of good will in the world today is for peace and security and the peace of the world depends upon a strong and prepared United States of America, and

WHEREAS a sound and stable economy is essential to a strong America and this is the urgent concern of business, industry, labor and management, government and consumer alike, and

WHEREAS the soundness of stability of our economy depends in the end upon the productive effort of each citizen and the thrift of each individual and family, and

WHEREAS the savings bond program of the United States treasury department encourages thrift and regular savings, works against further price increases and builds up buying power for the future, and

WHEREAS the SECURITY LOAN campaign for United States savings bonds is now in progress,

I, therefore, as mayor of Monroe, call upon all citizens to examine personal and family finances with the idea of buying as many extra bonds as possible during the security loan campaign. I urge all who can take advantage of the payroll savings plan where you work or the bond-a-month plan where you bank, to sign up for regular, systematic bond saving. I commend the school savings program which implants the habit of thrift in our children. Finally, since the security loan campaign and savings bond program depend upon the volunteer aid of public-spirited citizens, I call upon all who can help sell bonds to others to offer their services to local savings bond committee.

America's security is our security. Let us build it together.

IN MOVIELAND

By Bob Thomas
HOLLYWOOD, June 19.—(AP)—Today's movie stars have taken a tip from the frequent news stories of former film favorites who died broke. Stars if a previous generation were fabled for making and spending millions. Many of them ended on skid row or in homes for aged actors. To guard against such a fate, present-day stars are investing their earnings in businesses that will provide for them after their faces have lost their draw at the box-office.

Most popular investments of the stars are ranches, which provide recreation and often (but not always) profit. Gary Cooper owns a shooting lodge and dude ranch in Idaho and Sydney Greenstreet backs a hop farm in England. Cattle ranchers include

Joel McCrea, Fred MacMurray, Walter Brennan, Ginger Rogers and Victor McLaglen.

Other Hollywood agriculturists include George Murphy, hogs; James Craig, turkeys; Ray Milland, chickens; Robert Young, walnuts; Edward Arnold, citrus; George Brent, Alan Ladd, Dan Dailey, Ronald Reagan, Harry and Betty James, horses.

But Hollywood's stellar capitalists don't stop there. Jimmy Durante has started a music publishing business. Humphrey Bogart has profited on his sea-going hobby by manufacturing aluminum dinghies. Fred Astaire has a flock of dance studios and a money-making horse, Triplicate.

Anita Louise and her husband operate a string of theaters. Dick Powell runs a correspondence flying lessons outfit and manufactures ice boxes. Andy Devine and Frances Langford-Jon Hall operate flying schools. June Haver, Paulette Goddard-Burgess Meredith and Kathryn Grayson-Johnny Johnston have furniture and antique stores.

Alan Hale makes theater seats and fire extinguishers. Maureen O'Hara operates a dress shop and Binnie Barnes backs a baby clothes store. Charles Bickford backs two whaling boats and Irene Dunne owns chunks of two smart southern California hotels.

Roy Rogers earns over $200,000 a year by endorsing 41 different products like belts and cowboy outfits. Others: Red Skelton, apartments; Lew Ayres, lending library; Constance Bennett, cosmetics; Brian Donlevy, gold mine; Maureen O'Sullivan, kid furniture; Bob Cummings, hardware store; John Wayne, parlor games.

I might also mention Gene Autry, Bob Hope and Bing Crosby. Space doesn't permit me to list their enterprises.

Thank You, Good Citizens

Since the Democratic Executive Committee has tabulated the votes and declared me the victor in my race for Commissioner of Streets and Parks in last Tuesday's Primary, I desire to take this means of expressing my sincere and everlasting thanks to all the good people of Monroe who made my election possible.

It has always been my ambition to make Monroe one of, if not the most, beautiful cities in the United States. You have given me the opportunity to try to accomplish this. I know that I shall receive the cooperation of all the people of Monroe and especially the fine ladies who are interested in their homes, gardens, streets and parks and any and all things that will make Monroe a more wonderful place in which to live.

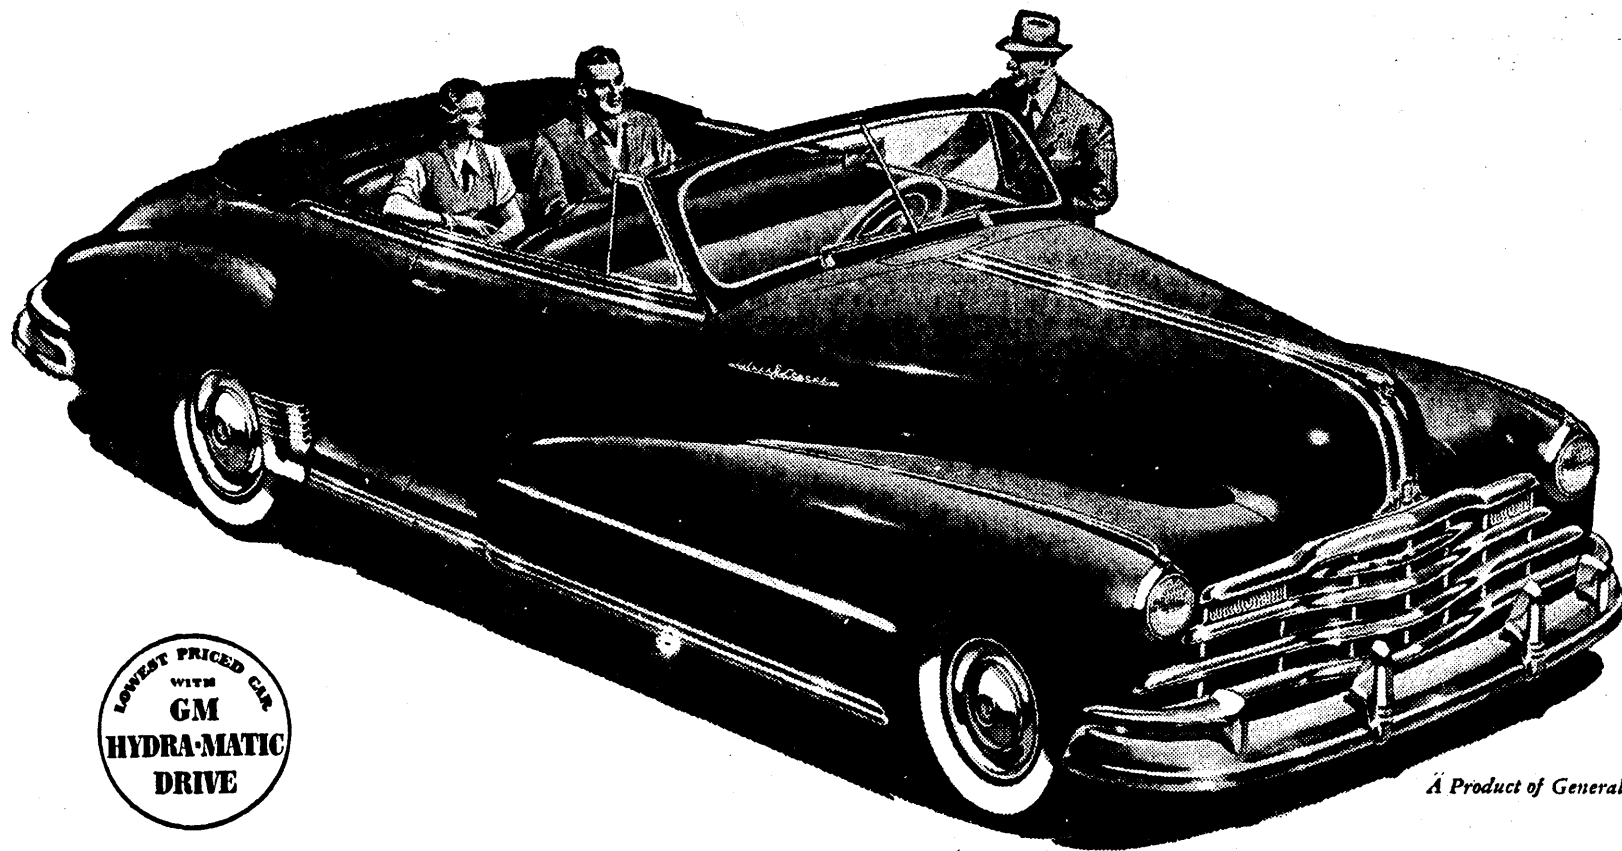

I have no criticism toward anyone. To my opponent, Mr. Wayne Huckaby, I desire to congratulate him on the fine race and the large vote he received. I also desire to invite Mr. Huckaby and all his supporters to join with me and other citizens of Monroe in a community effort to develop and beautify Monroe.

Again I say, THANKS.

N. J. C. RATING AS EXCELLENT

Formal Battalion Inspection Is Held; Maj. Murphy Heads
Local Military

The R. O. T. C. of Northeast Junior College received an "excellent" rating by officials who made the annual formal inspection of the battalion May 14, 15 under supervision of Col. Henry D. Jay, field artillery of the fourth army. He was assisted by Lt. Col. Daniel P. Norman, senior National Guard inspector for Louisiana, and Maj. Theodore Leonard, reserve infantry instructor for northeast Louisiana.

Maj. Joseph A. Murphy has been head of the military department at the college for the past two years.

The award was based on three phases of judging—administration, training, and miscellaneous. Though the over-all rating was "excellent," a detailed inspection report gave scores of "superior" on practically every item. Weakness in "protection of government property from loss, destruction or damage" caused storage security to rate "excellent." Condition of government property scored "superior" except on stored woolen uniforms that officials termed insufficiently protected against moths.

"Superior" was awarded each of the following factors included under administration: Maintenance of records, relationship of the R. O. T. C. and the college, maintenance of property records and condition of government property, with the exception of storage security, cited above, and facilities, except storage of arms. Officials scored this "excellent" but they pointed to the need of additional security in the storage room.

The inspection covered numerous training items, each of which scored "superior." The list comprised lesson plans and bibliographies for each subject taught, survey of examinations given during the year, observation of instruction methods, class response, and discipline of the unit. The report showed that 98 per cent of questions asked students during observation of training had been answered promptly and correctly.

All items of discipline of cadets scored "superior, as well as discipline of army personnel.

Under miscellaneous factors, the inspecting team included in their report extra curricular activities in which the corps participated throughout the year. These included: Sports, Army Day parade, Freedom Train celebration and a weekly radio program broadcast over KNOE. The report also referred to the honor drill team and the R. O. T. C. activity society.

Inspecting officials pointed to the advantages of the small military unit such as the R. O. T. C. at Northeast Junior College which affords more opportunity to give individual instruction and command experience, they said. Their report stressed the close cooperation and support given the unit by civilians of the Twin Cities.

Dean Rodney Cline referred to the R. O. T. C. as a "fine addition to the institution." The good influence which the corps has wielded throughout the year has been an important factor in campus life, he explained. He highly commended the army personnel and expressed regret at losing Major Murphy, who recently was transferred. The dean declared, however, that the college was fortunate in having as his successor, Maj. Hugh W. McClary, formerly of Monroe, who returned this spring from military service in Japan.

Members of the college military staff at the time of inspection included, besides Major Murphy: Major McClary, assistant professor of military science and tactics; T/Sgt. Claude W. Allen, T/Sgt. Berry W. Carroll, T/Sgt. Roland Johnson and M/Sgt. Harry C. Jolly.

OPTIMISTS WILL CHALLENGE RAIN

Unless Downpour Falls This Week, Members Will Wear
Raincoats To Lunch

The Optimists Club members voted at their noon meeting Friday in Hotel Frances to wear raincoats, overshoes and to carry umbrellas next Friday noon if it fails to rain from now to that time.

Forty members and guests were entertained at the weekly luncheon by the Junior Optimists who presented an old-fashioned German band, a combination of unusual instruments, assembled and played by Herbert Peterson, Harlan Prestridge, Donald Stewart, Skipper Hunter and Charles Stratford.

Cecil Tillman and Sylvan Masur are going to attend the National Optimist Convention in Fort Worth and have reservations for all who seek to attend.

It was voted that the boys' work committee would select three boys to send to the Junior Optimists boys' camp in Fort Worth, July 19.

John Cox attended his first meeting as a new member.

John Yarbrough had as his guest E. E. Smith. George Taylor had Jim Harris as guest and Arthur Wedemeyer.

MAYORS DISLIKE TAFT-GIVEN TAG

Cities Along Truman's Train
Trip Blow Up Over 'Whistle-Stop' Name

WASHINGTON, June 19.—(P)—The mayors of Los Angeles, Gary, Ind., Crestline, Ohio, and various other metropolises blew the whistle on Senator Taft (R-Ohio) today for that crack about "whistle-stops."

So did the Chambers of Commerce of Pocatello, Idaho, Laramie, Wyo., and other self-described non-whistle-stops. In fact, civic pride busted out all over—mostly at Taft's expense.

And the Democratic national committee chuckled fiendishly. Because it pulled the whistle poll after Taft said in a Philadelphia speech that President Truman shouldn't go around the country "blackguarding congress at every whistle-stop."

Whistle-stop? That's a tank town, a hamlet, a mere wide place in the road. The Democrats wired 35 places across the country where Mr. Truman had spoken on his "non-political" rail tour. The question: Was it nice of the senator to call you a whistle-stop? (Taft didn't mention any particular communities.)

"Characteristically, Senator Taft is confused," replied Laramie. "Very poor taste," said Gary. "Our whistles never stop blowing."

said Mayor Earl L. McNutt of Eugene, Ore.

The Democrats summed it up: 73 per cent of those replying disapproved of Taft's remark, of which 7 per cent said he couldn't have been referring to their fair city. And 27 per cent simply asked for more details.

Crestline, Ohio, population around 5,000, was indignant. Whistle-stop? "Forty-two passenger trains make regular scheduled stops here daily... suggest that Senator Taft consult timetables..." wired Mayor A. P. Soner.

As for Mayor Fletcher Brown of Los Angeles: "The term hardly applies," he said, but:

"Anyone who could have been in Los Angeles last Monday—a perfect day in June with southern California sunshine and blue skies—and witnessed 1,000,000 good American citizens lining the streets to welcome their president, would have both whistled and stopped."

Keeping Commies In Line

This is only a guess. But we wouldn't be surprised if both President Harry Truman of the U. S. A. and President Joseph Curran of the National Maritime Union feel less bitter about the Taft-Hartley Law than they seem to.

Mr. Truman may not like the law. But at least it allowed him to halt damaging strikes on the railroads and in the coal mines, and now a third strike, only slightly less damaging. As for Mr. Curran, the injunction may also have saved him from a strike that might have got out of hand.

Mr. Curran has finally broken with the N. M. U. lefties, after years of hand-holding, but he has not broken their power.

An indication of this was the rather conflicting statement that came from Ferdinand Smith, N. M. U. secretary and a leader of the union's pro-Communist group, on the same day that Mr. Curran said he would not defy the law.

The Smith statement, issued on behalf of the N. M. U. national council, said nothing about respecting the law in the event of an injunction. And its tone was decidedly more belligerent than that which Mr. Curran used.

Naturally, the N. M. U. leftists would love to pull off a strike. With it they could tie up the European aid program almost completely. More than that, they would probably influence a portion of public opinion in the E. R. P. countries with a twisted propaganda version of the issues behind the strike. Together, these actions would seriously prejudice the American position abroad.

The Taft-Hartley Law may not stop this strike. But it can offer some valuable time to get the maritime situation straightened out. It can give Mr. Curran and his anti-Communist majority a chance to rally their forces.

The ship operators contend that the Taft-Hartley Law bans this practice, which requires operators to hire union crews through union hiring halls. The N. M. U. holds that if this comes under the law's ban on the closed shop, then the law works unfairly in the employers' favor. It also charges that the operators have not bargained in good faith.

These are legitimate points. And if the Taft-Hartley Law can make the parties sit down for further bargaining on wages and working conditions, while a court is deciding the closed-shop controversy, then the union charges of discrimination by the law and its administrators seem exaggerated.

But the big point in an injunction's favor is that it would spike the Communist guns.

If, on top of the house cut in E. C. A. appropriations, a Communist-inspired strike should stop the flow of American goods abroad, the bipartisan supporters of the foreign policy would have a hard time justifying it with the actions of the American right and left wings.

We should not like to think that every industry-wide strike might be subject to injunction. But in this case there are good reasons why the maritime workers should be kept from becoming the political tools of a pro-Communist minority, which is what would happen.

THE 50-CENT DOLLAR

Destined to have reverberations in the political campaign is the fact that the profits of American industry are running 16 per cent higher so far this year than in the corresponding period of 1947. Curiously, the industry whose prices are complained about the most—the food industry—showed a loss of 12 per cent under last year. But profits of some industries show as much as 166 per cent gain over 1947.

But analysis discloses that these gains are highly concentrated. A few industries did very well. Most of them just wagged along with normal profits. Strike troubles and supply shortages held down their volume of production. But the gain in profits will be hammered at by labor leaders and some politicians in the campaign as evidence that industry is responsible for inflation or could pay much higher wages.

However, one industrialist sums it up this way: "Today we are face to face with the fact that the dollar with which we deal now is not the dollar on which we have been accustomed to basing our calculations. I should hate to think what would happen if our company were compelled to replace its present equipment in terms of 1948 dollars. Reserves and profits, which may look big on paper, would soon be found to be hopelessly inadequate."

The 50-cent dollar is very much in the picture and should be kept in mind where financial statements are involved.

ALWAYS ANOTHER YEAR

If Kansas farmers had not had long and varied experiences in the production of wheat, the latest report on crop conditions in the nation's banner wheat state might have brought disappointment. According to a survey of the U. S. department of agriculture, this year's crop will be little more than 50 per cent of last year's harvest.

Much acreage has been abandoned, while the yield per acre will be much lower. Both developments are attributed to unfavorable weather conditions last fall and this spring. This is not a new story for Kansas farmers. Ample moisture at seeding time, favorable weather conditions last fall and this spring.

This is not a new story for Kansas farmers. Ample moisture at seeding time, favorable weather conditions through the winter, are necessary to bring a bumper crop at harvest time. These did not prevail. In short, the Kansas wheat crop of 1948 was written off as a bad investment weeks ago.

Jimmie Fidler IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, June 19—The current truce between Abbott and Costello and their studio bosses is good for one picture only. When that's completed, A. and C. will refuse to face cameras again unless their demands are met in full.

Look for Robert Sterling to altar-trek with Rita (Mervyn Le Roy's stepdaughter) Rend the minute his divorce from Ann Southern is final. . . . Commie sympathizers who protested "The Iron Curtain" will soon have more cause for complaint; five other anti-Rief films are now scheduled for immediate production.

Universal-International bosses have "advised" Yvonne de Carlo to spend less time in nightclubs and more time studying her acting chores. . . . The name of the wealthy New Yorker who's been bombarding Ann Southern with attentions is Frank Mallan. . . . Time out for actress Virginia Grey, advised by medics to take a prolonged rest cure after collapsing on an Ojai, California, golf course. . . . John Carroll and Lucille Ryman, secretly married three years ago in Mexico, are calling it a day.

Despite Lois Andrews' assertions to the contrary, Steve Brodie is still telling pals that a reconciliation is in the offing. . . . Looks like the disc jockey fad is on the wane; insiders hint that at least three of radio's top-flight platter spinners may lose their sponsors come fall. . . . Joanne de Bergh, the Dutch import, will bring her two children here in September; she's already applied for American citizenship.

PREVIEW NIGHTS: Pic of the week: Universal-International's "Feudin', Fussin' and A-Fightin'" (Donald O'Connor-Marjorie Main-Percy Kilbride). A grand slam in slapstick that will send you home laughing. . . . GOOD: Warner Brothers' "Romance On the High Seas" (Jack Carson-Janis Paige-Don DeFore). Top-notch fare for musical comedy fans. . . . 20th Century-Fox's "Mine Own Excuse" (Burgess Meredith-Dulcie Gray-Michael Shepley). British-Made "physiological" drama, adult and thought-provoking. . . . Monogram's "Michael O'Halloran" (Scotty Beckett-Allene Roberts-Tommy Cook). Gene Stratton Porter's famous novel, faithfully transcribed for screen drama. . . . FAIR: 20th Century-Fox's "The Winner's Circle" (Johnny Longden-Morgan Farley-Jeanne Fillen). An odds-on bet for horse-racing fans—but the rest of the audience may tire.

in the stretch . . . BEST PERFORMANCE: Marjorie Main in "Feudin', Fussin' and A-Fightin'."

Sonja Henie is noted for being one of the shrewdest business women in Hollywood—and she proved it again the other day when she insisted that the script of her new picture, "The Countess of Monte Cristo," should be changed in such fashion that she wouldn't have to appear on the screen as a siren. That's a refreshing note. While most screen actresses are fighting for sexy roles, Sonja is smart enough to realize that it pays to keep faith with the millions of fans who regard her as a wholesome, "outdoors" type. I think her bank book offers ample evidence that she knows what she's doing.

If present plans work out, Bob Hope and Clark Gable will turn their summer vacation trips into something more than mere pleasure jaunts. Bob is talking about going to Alaska—a combined fishing trip and a tour of army and navy bases. Gable, bound for Europe says he's going to drop in for unofficial visits with American service men still stationed on the continent. More power to them, if they put those plans into execution—and I'm wondering why the scores of other stars who have booked trips abroad for the summer don't pledge themselves to do likewise. By going to very little trouble, they can do a lot to bolster the morale of some mighty homesick boys.

I've often commented on the idiosyncrasy of producing and publicizing a picture under one title and then releasing it under another moniker. Here's a case in point. In my mail this morning was a note from a young lady in Miami, Florida, who wants to know what's happened to a picture entitled "They Passed This Way," starring her favorite actor, Joel McCrea. She says she's been eagerly looking forward to it, but hasn't heard it mentioned in the past few months. Well, I think she won't miss the picture. It's being released under a new title, "Four Faces West."

With two football epic slated for production this summer, local grid fans are wondering if the producers will be up-to-date enough to use two casts for each—one for offense, the other for defense. (Released by McNaught Syndicate Inc.)

Editors' Roundtable

ONE GERMANY—OR TWO?

Editors, in large majority, consider the London conference plan for a west German government necessitated now by Russia's refusal to coordinate the economy of her zone with western Germany except on her terms. A small minority insists the step is still premature; they fear Russia may convince the Germans that she is the "champion of German unity" despite her obstructionism. Most editors have little hope for German unity in the foreseeable future. Some, however, think that if the plan revitalizes west Germany's economy Russia may possibly soon accept a fait accompli and cooperate. Majority opinion favors strongly guarantees to France against possible future German aggression.

St. Louis (Mo.) Post-Dispatch (Ind.-Dem.) "The big argument against the plan is that it is destroying Germany's unity. Already Dr. Kaestner, chairman of the liberal Democratic party in the Russian zone, is crying: 'Woe betide the Germans who help in the partitioning of our country.' . . . It is distressing to find some Americans against the plan simply because they are afraid of such Russian propaganda. If such counsel were followed, the west would mark time indefinitely. Conditions probably would worsen, and there would be even more grist for the Red propaganda mills."

Hartford (Conn.) Journal (Rep.): "The power that gains credit for reuniting a Germany split by the struggle between east and west is the one that will win in Germany. In other words, the power that the Russians have given by their betrayal of their Potsdam promise to build a unified Germany, this step leaves the Russians as champions of unity. And Berlin itself remains one hundred miles deep in the Russian zone, where the Russians may be expected to put forth their own plan for a unified German government, with all the propaganda value of having the historic capital as its seat."

Western Daily News (Ind.): "The western powers blame Russia for the division into east and west, asserting that Russia's refusal to accept any compromise for the general government forced them to proceed separately in their own zones. In the west they plan a federal state with a weak central authority and strong provincial regimes. . . . The plan can work if it is executed well. . . . The nations subscribing to the agreement were careful to say that it is preliminary."

to unification of all Germany. It actually acknowledges the prospect of uniting all Germany is too far distant for practical consideration at this time. . . . Milwaukee (Wis.) Journal (Ind.): " . . . it will be of the utmost importance for the western powers to make the Germans understand that Russia is responsible for the divided reich. . . . Thus a hand is still held out toward Russia for big power agreement on all of Germany. There is little likelihood of any Russian acceptance. Nevertheless the opportunity exists. But the real significance of the new plans is that the western powers are going ahead to promote the recovery of western Europe and to reintegrate western Germany in the economy of western Europe."

New York Herald Tribune (Ind.-Rep.): " . . . the conference held out the hope that its decisions would facilitate an eventual four-power agreement . . . and that the constituent (German) assembly would plan an organic law for east as well as west. Possibly such a step would exert a pull upon German opinion in the east, possibly the Russians may come to believe that the fait accompli of a democratic western Germany leaves them no alternatives but to permit their zone to join or to cease holding out any hopes of a united Germany."

Chicago Sun (Ind.): "Originally France wanted territorial separation of the Ruhr from Germany. Denied this, she demanded strong international control of Ruhr industries. The London agreement denies her that, but substitutes international control over the distribution of basic Ruhr products. Nor did France obtain unequivocal military guarantees. The western allies agree that they will 'consult' if a threat of German aggression appears, and 'consult' before ending the occupation."

Fort Worth (Texas) Star-Telegram (Ind.-Dem.): "It (the Ruhr) was the arsenal of German aggression, and it has been used against France three times in the last 100 years. But revival of Ruhr industry is essential to the economic recovery, not only of Germany, but of all Europe. Therefore it must be revived, and French fears should be calmed by definite commitments that a system of inspection or policing, if necessary, will be established to insure that it never will be used as a basis for future German aggression."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.
In his poem, "An Interview With Myles Standish," James Russell Lowell wrote of "men of vision, whose gaunt eyes see golden ages rising." He did not think much of some of these dreamers.

But poets, prophets and saints have long dreamed and spoken of a golden age. It has been a prolific theme in literature. Thomas More gave his dream of it in his famous book, "Utopia." In our own time, Bellamy portrayed it in "Looking Backward."

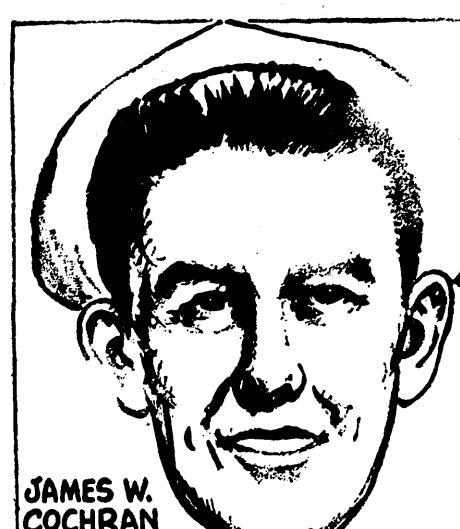

But there are other visions of a golden age pale in comparison with the expectation of a Messiah and the coming of a Messianic kingdom. They arose in the Jewish world in the centuries before the birth of Jesus and found expression in the noblest passages of the later prophecies of Israel. Christians found fulfillment of those prophecies in the coming of Jesus as Messiah and King. They saw the golden age begun, if not fully established, in the kingdom He proclaimed.

They pray, "Thy kingdom come," and that the will of God may be "done in earth as it is done in heaven." But they see a world in which that goal is not yet achieved, and in which it will not be until all is brought under the rule of Christ. That would be the golden age.

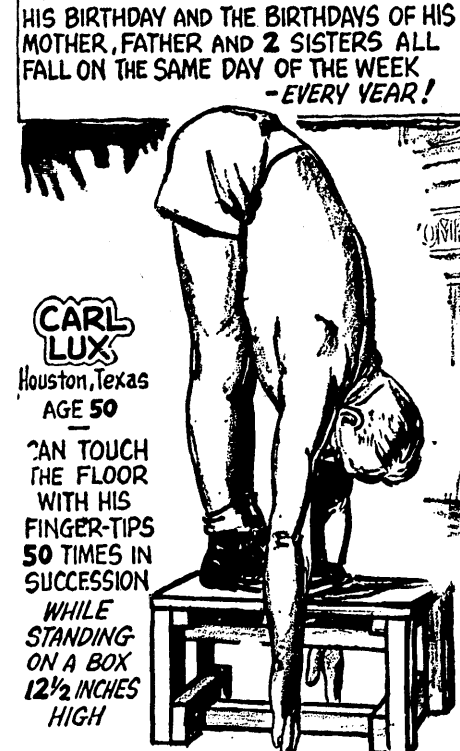

Some Christians look for a return of Jesus to earth. Though they think of Jesus as Messiah in His first coming, their look toward the future in the hope of His second coming is not unlike the looking toward the future of many Jews, who do not regard Jesus as the Messiah, but who believe the Messiah is still to come.

It was the Jews, however, who first saw in Jesus of Nazareth the one who was to come. John the Baptist, who found the answer to his question, "Art thou he that should come, or should we look for another?" Peter, who declared, "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the Living God"; and Paul, the converted persecutor, who has expressed in his Epistles what to him

COFFEE AND TOBACCO

Coffee is apparently good for the soul and tobacco helps the American farmer. That is the philosophy which guides the economic cooperation administration, former E. R. P.

I once raised the question as to why E. C. A. expends good American dollars on coffee and tobacco, since neither can contribute to the rehabilitation of western Europe or China. Apparently coffee is a morale builder. So is tea. So are beer, Coca-Cola, whiskey and, for some, betel nuts. It all depends on the point of view. But what has that to do with recovery? How many machine tools can be manufactured with how many tons of coffee?

This is the answer by D. A. Fitzgerald, director foods of E. C. A.: "As you know, there are some food items that play an important part in the diet and yet contribute little to basic nourishment. Many beverages fall into this category. This is especially true of coffee, which is a great morale builder . . . a thing much needed for European recovery . . . as well as contributing a great deal to basic eating habits and customs. In addition, if recovery is to be permanent, it must be world-wide and all countries must return to a peace-time system of commerce and trade and must participate in this recovery. Therefore, it is obvious that the buying of coffee from South America has the effect of indirectly bringing our very valuable neighbors into the recovery program since every dollar spent for coffee will improve multi-lateral trade."

It is the last sentence that is the important one. While we are passing money out to Europe and China, the Brazilians would like to get some as would the other coffee-raising countries of Central America. So, instead of slipping them a few millions, we put it down as aid to Norway or Sweden or somewhere, but give it to them in coffee. Thus, they get the coffee, the Brazilians get the cash and Uncle Sam pays. How that builds railroads or docks or restores factories in Europe and China. Dr. Fitzgerald does not tell his correspondent, but obviously that, as well as morale building, is the plan. Why not send a couple of tons of lipsticks as morale builders?

On the subject of tobacco, the explanation is different. There are two reasons for sending tobacco to Europe and China. One is that in most of those countries the governments tax their people highly on tobacco and the governments need the revenue. So we give them the tobacco and they collect the taxes. Really that is what Dr. Fitzgerald writes: " . . . At the present time, the tobacco supplies in most countries in Europe are so inadequate that a widespread and serious black market in cigarettes exists which prevents the governments from realizing their normal revenue as well as keeping their peoples from more productive activities."

The second reason is political in the United States, namely, that tobacco-raising farmers want their markets restored. As the Europeans and Chinese lack the dollars to buy American tobacco, E. C. A. comes to their rescue by sending them tobacco.

What of the golden age today? The triumph of the Prince of Peace, the one whom Isaiah called Wonderful, Counsellor, the one whom Christians call the Eternal Christ, seems far off in a world of violence and hate. But it was in such a world that the faith, hope and vision arose. It was in such a world that the prophets lived and spoke. It was of such a world that Jesus said, even on the very verge of the Cross, "Be of good cheer; I have overcome the world."

Can we doubt or fear where the noblest of all mankind have had faith and courage?

Pitching Horseshoes

By Billy Rose

I was munching a hot cake at Lindy's the other night when Hollywood's fattest agent walked in. "Greetings, Billy," he said. "Have a mug of mocha and tell me what you're doing so far from home plate."

The agent deposited his 260 pounds of solid flab on a chair. "Every time I come east and try to persuade Katherine Cornell to make a movie," he said.

"Don't you get discouraged?" I asked.

"How can one become discouraged in a town filled with such lovely pastries?" said the ten-pumper.

I wigwagged a waiter and told him to drag out the spiced cow on rye. "What's the big news on the coast?" I asked.

"Things are quiet," said the agent, "except in Glendale where a director keeps chucking rocks through the windows of a well-known English actor."

"Give it to me pane-by-pane," I said.

"Well," said the agent, "I'll have to unwind this one backwards. You probably remember Stan Allen. He's been making pictures since the days when Jesse Lasky was shooting them in a barn. Steady Stan, they called him—always the careful planner. At home he collected meerkats and worked out an hour a day in his private gym. Never boozed, never chased—pillar of society stuff. All of us used to wonder how such a soberberd held on to a fun-loving gal like his wife, Kitty."

"A couple of years before the war, Stan's studio imported a juvenile from England. He was one of those ruddy-cheeked broomsticks who can serve themselves kippers at a hunt breakfast without looking ridiculous. "Stan took a shine to him and used him in a couple of movies. The kid gave a good account of himself and after awhile it became one of those actor-director combinations."

"About eleven one night, the juvenile showed up on the lawn of Stan's home in Beverly Hills and began heaving rocks through his windows. Stan was going to go out and bust him one, but his wife said the kid was drunk and not to bother him."

"Next day the actor was as apologetic as a Japanese pickpocket. He said he had tucked away one Martini too many and promised it wouldn't happen again."

"But a couple of nights later, he was back on the lawn, and this time his aim was even better. Stan ran out, grabbed the Englishman by his well-bred neck and dragged him into the gym. There he put on a pair of eight-ounce gloves and beat him black, blue, sober and contrite. Of course he was careful not to damage that profitable property."

"While the juvenile was coming to, Stan's wife opened the gym door. She took one look at the thoroughly larruped Londoner and began berating her husband."

"Of course you know what happened. That night the wife rubbed eau de Cologne into the juvenile's puffy chest. Next day the actor phoned Kitty and apologized for the rocks. Kitty apologized for her husband. Six months later she divorced Stan and married the actor."

"The director took it hard. The Liarhood kid had not only broken up his windows and his home, he had also shattered his confidence in the well-ordered life. The next two films Stan did were fair, but the two after that were duds. Finally he went back East with all his banners dragging."

"Around that time the war started, and before you could say 'Cecil B. de Mille,' Stan had gotten himself commissioned a Signal Corps major in a combat photography section. He served in Africa, Italy and France. He spent a couple of years with the occupation forces in the Far East. This spring he was discharged and came back to Hollywood."

"We hardly knew him. Steady Stan had become Will the Wack. I could have given him a job directing a feature, but no, he wants to make experimental shorts—the kind that don't make a quarter."

"The nicest thing about Stan's comeback is the way he spends his evenings. Every night he gets a few snifters under his belt and taxis out to Glendale where Mr. and Mrs. Juvenile are living. It's a large and expensive house—the Britisher had a punctured eardrum and did all right for himself during the war. There are plenty of windows and a rock garden in front of the glassed-in porch, and Stan has himself quite a time."

"What's the moral of this frenzied tale?" I inquired. "That the path of true love is sometimes as rocky as Graziano?"

"Don't you get it?" chuckled the agent. "The juvenile doesn't dare call the cops because he's a big star now and doesn't want his raucous romance smeared all over the papers."

"Does Stan figure history will repeat and he'll get his wife back the way he lost her?" I asked.

"It's my theory," said the agent, "that Stan is chucking rocks for two different reasons. He's hoping the rock will get mad and pick a fight with him, at which time he will readjust his classic profile and make him switch from juvenile leads to character parts."

"What's reason number two," I asked.

The agent delicately patted his lips with his napkin. "As an old East Side kid, you ought to know," he said. "Stan has discovered how much fun it is to throw a rock and hear the glass go tinkle, tinkle, tinkle."

Our Children

Respect for their elders is an admirable quality in children—and grown-up people—because it shows appreciation of human values which makes life richer for all concerned. But the accent should be placed on the human values that demand the respect, not on age or position.

It is easy to teach children to respect those who earn their regard, because the fine qualities of the spirit that result in such respect are like magnets drawing children toward them. Every child loves those who are kind, gracious, loving and wise. Something flows from spirit to spirit, something answers heart to heart, and there never is a need for a sharp command to "respect your elders." An elderly relative was visiting the family one evening and took the occasion to point out the deficiencies of Junior's mother. "You're not half strict enough with him, Mary. No half. You let him get away with things I never would allow in a child of mine. Of course, he's yours and that makes a difference but I always say, 'Spare the rod and spoil the child.'"

"I don't think he is so bad, Aunt Kate," murmured Mother anxiously. "I can see with half an eye that he's spoiled, spoiled completely. He didn't even offer to shake hands with me until you made him, and he refused to kiss me. Now you know, for a five-year-old boy."

"You shut up," roared Junior, his fists clenched and his jaw out. "What's this? You talking like that to Aunt Kate. I'll teach you to show disrespect to your elders." And Daddy spanked Junior with a slipper charged with right good will.

I think Daddy was wrong. Had he taken Junior out of the room and told him, when Junior had cooled down a little, that one never speaks so rudely to a guest—no matter what he does—that would have been right and proper. But to discipline him that way before Aunt Kate, who actually had asked for disrespect—first, by criticizing the child to his mother, then by challenging his mother's conduct—was not, in my opinion, fair. And it did not teach Junior to respect Aunt Kate. Quite the contrary.

Children respect those who respect themselves sufficiently to behave with a decent regard for the feelings of others. Respect has to be earned and children are keen judges.

Lying is a habit which seems harmless at its beginning, but one that may prove very difficult to break. How to tackle this tough problem is explained by Dr. Patri in his leaflet No. 15.

GIRL SCOUTS TAKE SWIMMING LESSONS

More than one hundred Girl Scouts in Ouachita parish have registered for swimming lessons, according to Mrs. Rodney Cline, chairman of the Scouts' program committee. Already two classes have been formed under the direction of Mrs. H. A. Morrison. Miss Janet Voorhies is the swimming instructor.

While the problem of securing qualified swimming instructors has occasioned delay in the forming of classes, the program committee has announced that four additional classes will be formed next week with Glenn Gossett as instructor. All Girl Scouts who are registered for swimming lessons will be notified as soon as possible as to the day of class formation.

HUNDLEYS HAVE FAMILY REUNION

Louisiana And California Sisters, Brothers Meet First Time In 35 Years

A delightful family reunion was held recently in California when the sons and daughters of the late Rev. and Mrs. O. B. Hundley assembled for the first time in 35 years as one group. Their father was for years pastor of the Baptist Church in Columbia, La., and his large family was deeply devoted to their parents, who for years were prominently connected with social and church life in Caldwell parish.

Of the family there are living five daughters and three sons all of whom managed to gather for the reunion. They were as follows: Mrs. Ethel Cloyd, of Monroe; Mrs. Ruby Stockwell, of Lake Charles; Edward Hundley, connected with City Service in Lake Charles; Lee Hundley, planter and mail carrier, of Columbia; Mrs. Pearl Vaughn, librarian, of San Leandro, Calif.; Dean Hundley, architect of San Francisco; Mrs. Dick Willis, of Oakland, Calif., and Mrs. Bell Whittington, operator of women's shop and gift shop, Oakland, Calif.

The members lived again in memories of their early days in Louisiana. They took turns telling of California, spending many days in San Francisco and admiring the magnificent Golden Gate and harbor as well as the numerous points of interest. The home of Mrs. Pearl Vaughn was specially admired with its colonial architecture and magnificent grounds.

Members of the party were reluctant to leave beautiful California when it came time to break up and to journey back to Louisiana.

BOY IS IMPALED ON IRON PICKET FENCE

NEW YORK, June 19.—(AP)—Eight-year-old William C. Brodie slipped while climbing an iron picket fence today and was impaled upon a spike which pierced his chin and came out his mouth.

His anguished cries brought three men to his side. While two held him to ease the pressure, a third rushed to Flushing Hospital 10 blocks away for help.

Thirty minutes after the accident occurred, police freed the lad by sawing the picket off below his chin. Meanwhile, Dr. Jules Amer had given the still conscious boy a shot of morphine to ease his pain.

The spike was removed at the hospital. Unable to talk, William wrote out his name and address on a piece of paper at the hospital. The hospital said his condition was fair.

In The Air

Over Monroe

By Margaret Gambrell

Forty years ago, farmers considered airplanes just another invention for dare-devils, but in recent years they have learned to depend more and more on aircrafts for relieving their headaches.

Soon after cotton begins to square, you hear farmers talking about the boll weevils or any number of insects threatening to take over their fields. Along with this potential worry, there's the constant hope for rain and often a farmer loses several hundred bales of cotton, just because he didn't get the rain he needed at the right time.

Both insects and drouth naturally cause planters to spend sleepless nights, but who would have ever thought four decades ago, that an airplane would be used as a cure for farmers' worries over bugs? Much less ever dreaming that an airplane could cause a shower?

Though planes have been used to dust thousands of acres of cotton around Monroe, for the past several seasons, the cotton dusters were called out earlier than usual this year when leaf-hoppers (green flies) were reported to have been abundant on W. J. Sherrouse's farm.

Friday, E. R. Rodgers dusted the 200 acres cotton field with toxophene within an hour and a half.

The thing that worries most farmers about plane dusting is the fact that the planes fly only 10 feet above the ground and it appears dangerous, but local cotton dusters disagree, saying "it isn't dangerous if the pilot is experienced and doesn't get careless."

Rain Experiment
For the first time in this section of the state, airmen experimented with dry ice Thursday, and caused a shower on Emmett Barham's farm near Oak Ridge. Though the rain was light, only 100 pounds of dry ice was used.

A cotton duster, piloted by Red Asby, was used for the experiment and ice was dropped from approximately 12,000 feet. Weather conditions weren't too good for the experiment due to the lack of clouds, but airmen were pleased with the results and plan to conduct a second experiment next week. These artificial rains may soon prove to be a remedy for another of the farmer's headaches.

New Students
When airplanes buzz overhead, it's normal to wish you were in an airplane, instead of carrying on with your routine duties and you may even wonder who's flying in the plane.

Well, there's an unlimited number of persons it could be, but the new students who enrolled for flying lessons kept the local planes busy this week and will continue putting their hours in as long as clear weather prevails.

Students who enrolled and began flying this week were: L. C. McCaskill, Robert W. Taylor, R. L. Adams, William Paul Young, W. V. Stamper, James C. Trammel, C. A. Hill, John Blasengame, Martin Frazier, Harold McCoy, Clarence Davis.

L. M. Ray, who recently became interested in flying, purchased a new Ercoupe plane and enrolled for flying lessons, this week.

Maurice Laird and Leonard Pratt, Jr., enrolled in commercial pilot's training courses this week, and Pete Peavy enrolled to take an instrument course.

Aviatrix Solos
It's been quite a while since a woman soloed at any of the local airports, but despite airmen's contention that women's get cold feet before they take to the air, Mrs. Dudley McMillan donned her helmet and made her first solo flight this week.

Jo Ann Biedenharn, an enthusiastic pilot and one of Monroe's few aviatrix, resumed flying at a local airport this week. Miss Biedenharn began flying June 19, 1944 and received her pilot's license August 17, 1945.

Airmen who soloed for the first time during the week were Robert Purcell, Dick Richmond, J. E. Lucas, E. M. Wilson, and Floyd A. Bradshaw.

Two seaplane fliers, W. L. Carberry and M. J. Young took their cross country to Hot Springs, Ark., this week.

Completed Courses
It's hard to decide if airmen are trying to avoid the heat or if they are taking advantage of excellent flying weather, nevertheless ten pilots completed the required hours for private license this week.

These included: Martin Reade, L. R. Hatten, W. L. Carberry, M. J. Young, Minnear Cannon, Glenn Walker, Joe L. Boyer, N. D. Coates, W. D. Brockner, W. C. Fuller.

Maurice B. Sunderland, Jr., was issued an examiner's ticket by CAA last week.

Airport Grips
Our airports are taking on the appearance of service stations these days with increased air travel and state taxes.

C. J. Dick Towing Company's Seabee plane stopped over at Selma Field this week. The pilot got the tires aired, a drink of water and proceeded on his journey.

Airport managers, like service station operators, are feeling the effects of the 9 cent gasoline tax which went into effect June 8. As a result of this added state tax, the transit airplanes

GRIM IDENTITY TASK CONTINUES SLOWLY

MT. CARMEL, Pa., June 19.—(AP)—The grim task of identifying the mangled remains of 20 plane crash victims continued slowly today. Forty-three persons, including two infants, died in the mishap.

Already 19 passengers and all four crew members of the ill-fated DC-6 that plunged in flames on a coal-blackened hillside Thursday afternoon have been identified.

Meantime, investigators sifted through the virtually disintegrated fragments of the huge airliner to learn the cause of the tragedy.

"The disintegration is almost complete," said Joseph C. Fluet of the civil aeronautics board. "But we are hopeful that our experts may be able to ascertain how this thing happened."

NEW YORK MAYOR TRIES SUMMER VACATION TRIP

NEW YORK, June 19.—(AP)—New York City's Mayor William O'Dwyer, who had tough luck trying to get away from it all—is making another effort.

This time—traveling alone—he left yesterday on a freighter headed for Caribbean ports. About the only way to get in touch with him will be by carrier pigeon.

"Remember," he told the farewell committee of officials, "there's no radio-telephone on this ship."

Last December, the mayor tried to take a rest on his doctor's orders, but hurried back to supervise removal of the "big snow of '47."

Early this spring, he tried again for a California vacation, and a threatened general transit strike brought him back.

The freighter, Agwidawn, which is

GOP

nominated, without a deadlock, on an early ballot."

Brownell said that he, J. Russell Sprague, and Edwin F. Jaekle—the Dewey triumvirate—had talked during the week with leaders of nearly every delegation.

These conferences, he added, had resulted in gains for Dewey from states that had not been counted on before.

Rumors flew thick and fast. Campaign managers were applying the finger-in-buttonhole technique to incoming delegates.

But things had reached the stage where the presence of the candidates was needed to clinch decisions, pledges and strategy.

The way it looks now to many delegates rubbing elbows in hotel corridors and the customary smoke-filled rooms, the first convention vote may be something of a standoff between Dewey and Taft, with perhaps an edge to Dewey.

Stassen himself says he will trail along in third spot on the first roll call. But he says he will be nominated by the ninth.

Vandenberg and Pennsylvania are the big unknown elements, and they fit side-by-side in this political jigsaw puzzle.

Vandenberg's position all along has been that he is not a candidate, but that no man could turn down a genuine draft. His headquarters has said he will bring a statement of his position with him to Philadelphia.

But among run-of-the-mine delegates there was considerable doubt he would go any farther than he already has in keeping himself available for a call from the convention to carry the GOP standard.

That would deny his supporters the signal they have been awaiting to lunge into a full-fledged campaign for convention votes.

Pennsylvania fits in this way: The state's 73 votes are pledged to Senator Edward Martin, a favorite son. The question is, how long they will stick to Martin and in whose direction they will swing eventually? Those are points that will come up at tomorrow night's caucus.

Gov. James H. Duff is chairman of the delegation. He has been reported privately to be leaning toward Vandenberg. But National Committee member G. Mason Owlett is regarded as a Dewey man once the delegation starts supplying complimentary votes to Martin.

So what Pennsylvania does is important in every political tent in town. Stassen said late today he had been talking with some of the Pennsylvania delegation and they "showed a friendly interest."

He announced that he will be nominated for the presidency by Rep. Walter H. Judd of Minnesota.

The delegates writing the platform on which the GOP will stand for the next four years locked the doors and produced a secret draft.

The word leaking through the keyhole was that it will put the party on record against isolation and for international cooperation to attain peace and fend off Communism.

But the writers were worrying about language, because party members in congress have been splitting on both foreign and domestic problems. The convention group had the job of trying to keep everybody happy.

The convention's rules committee decided to give a bigger bonus in 1952 to states that turn in Republican victories this year. These states will get more convention delegates.

National Committeeman Rex Eaton of Colorado said that would mean southern states would have a smaller voice in picking the 1952 nominee.

The south was involved in another sort of issue today. The Republican national committee voted yesterday to recognize one group of Mississippi delegates. Today a rival faction complained its constitutional rights were violated. It filed suit for an injunction in U. S. district court.

When Dewey drives in from New York tomorrow, he heads for his headquarters at the Bellevue Stratford hotel.

Over the marquee is an impartial 22-foot rubber elephant. Today the beast was on its knees while a repairman desperately mended the pump.

But in the street below a real elephant, a 500-pounder, paraded past flying the banners of Senator Taft.

Once inside the hotel, Dewey will be starting straight into a white neon sign advertising "Stassen Hq's." The Minnesota has the walls loaded with banners, pictures and flags, and a horde of people passing out buttons, doughnuts and coffee.

In Dewey's own headquarters, a ball room one flight up, the picture is much the same. At one end are tremendous photographs of the capital building in Washington and Albany, with an equally big color picture of Dewey between.

An artist was touching up the lips this afternoon. Piled on a table are elaborately wrapped packages. Once the headquarters opens officially tomorrow night, every 200th visitor gets a prize and every 1000th gets a grand prize.

Such things as stockings, size 10 1/2; 2 slits, medium and a fitted suitcase.

So far, Vandenberg and Warren headquarters have only undecorated suites in the Warwick hotel, Vandenberg on the 12th floor, Warren four decks higher.

Taft has no competition from rival candidates at the Benjamin Franklin hotel a few blocks away. Banners stream from every column in the lobby. Huge signs outside say "Win With Taft."

But the seventh floor headquarters proper are lacking convention trappings—except for helpers milling around offering literature and buttons.

The national committee backing Gen. Douglas MacArthur has headquarters at the Adelphi hotel. But on the door of the suite advertised for it, a placard says only: "Illinois delegation."

"Warren Wright," "National Coordinator."

LOUISIANA GOP DELEGATES CAUTIOUS PHILADELPHIA, June 19.—(Special)—Although it was generally understood that the Louisiana delegation will cast nine votes for Senator Robert A. Taft and four votes for Governor Thomas E. Dewey on the first ballot at the Republican convention leaders of the delegation tonight were playing a Cagney game, waiting to see which way the political wind is blowing before they lay their cards on the table.

John E. Jackson, leader of the state's delegation to the GOP conclave, refused comment until the Louisianians have held a preliminary caucus at their headquarters in the Hotel Bellevue-Stratford Sunday morning. The formal caucus of the delegation will be held Monday.

With strong effort being made to start a pre-ballot bandwagon for Governor Dewey, Taft leaders in the southern states are remaining cautious. They want to be sure to be on the winning side so that if the Republicans win in November they will be in line for the resulting federal patronage.

However, as the candidates go to the post, Senator Taft has the edge in the Louisiana delegation.

GIRL TOSSED OFF
CLIFF NOW BETTER

Hospital Attendants Say Child Has Chance For Recovery From Attack

EVERETT, Wash., June 19.—(AP)—Four-year-old Mary Bernice Williams, who survived a night on a cliff-side after being left for dead, appeared today to be slightly improved.

Meanwhile, a "holding charge" of first degree murder was filed in justice court, accusing the child's father, Wayne L. Williams, of bludgeoning to death his 27-year-old wife, Hallie Lucile, the child's mother.

The woman's battered body and the severely injured child were found by sheriff's officers early yesterday after Williams led them to an isolated spot southwest of Everett.

Sheriff Tom Warnock said Williams signed a statement that he bludgeoned his wife to death and pushed her body over the cliff after long and bitter quarreling, and that he also beat the girl with a rock when she ran up screaming in protest against the mistreatment of her mother.

Prosecutor Phil Sheridan said the formal first degree murder information will be filed in superior court Monday.

Hospital attendants said Mary Bernice was "slightly improved" from yesterday. She suffered a skull fracture, fractured collarbone, shock, exposure and loss of blood.

Nurses said, however, it was too early to say the girl definitely will recover.

New York
Day By Day

By CHARLES B. DRISCOLL

Title Reg. U. S. Patent Office

NEW YORK—We got to talking about persons and personalities yesterday, and I hadn't half run out of material when the bell rang. So I continue with people I've known, instead of ransacking the mail bag, which is my custom at this time of the week.

Sinclair Lewis is one of the easiest, talkiest authors I've ever known among novelists. Thor Jaeger was the best physician I ever knew. He was so humble that he never said anything positively, but conditioned his diagnosis upon his professed ignorance. And no doctor ever knew more than he did. George M. Cohan was one of the most friendly, humble and excellent actors I have known. He had a tragic life, and faced it like a man. His attorney, Dennis O'Brien, was one of the finest men I have known in this pilgrimage, from almost any point of view.

My best teacher in college was Charles E. Cosand, in English. To him I owe my appreciation of Browning. Fred Allen assays high in character. Three years I spent trying to get him to take the newspaper space Will Rogers formerly used. He said no, and meant it. Eddie Cantor I have found a snappy conversationalist. . . . and Mary Margaret McBride is one of the most sincere of all broadcasters.

Jim Farley is the most honest politician I have known. . . . Jimmie Walker was the most entertaining. . . . I interviewed Caruso on his wedding night. He was rather short with me. I thought he sang too loud. . . . I heard John McCormack many times, and liked his mellow tones. . . . Jimmie Melton is one of my current favorites in song, and a grand companion besides. . . . Bernard Vaughan, a St. Paul editor, is one of my favorite people for sitting under a tree in a silent forest and talking—or not talking. . . . Fiorella La Guardia was one of my pet hates.

Father Edward Flanagan was one of the best and kindest friends I have ever known. . . . Leo Bozell and Morris Jacobs, his public relations men, were solid gold. Only Jacobs remains. . . . And I must tell you one item in my last meeting with the Father. He was leaving for Europe, on his last trip. As he accompanied me to the elevator in the Waldorf, he took my hand and said, "Charles dear, take care of yourself. You are working too hard, and we cannot afford to lose you. God bless you goodbye." And it was he who was working himself to death; he, whom we really cannot afford to lose.

The greatest woman I have ever known was my mother. Very close to her was my eldest sister. Both now on the other side. . . . Morton Downey is close to tops in my estimation of public entertainers. . . . and Arthur Hale is about number one in voice, enunciation and pronunciation on the air. . . . John Barrymore, in his middle years, was my best actor. . . . Huey Long was the most objectionable politician I knew, and his personality was very closely matched by that of a famous painter, L. J. Gordon, who eventually killed himself.

H. B. R. Briggs was the greatest newspaper editor under whom it was my privilege to work, and among book editors I choose Cecil Scott, of New York. . . . Wilfred Funk is the most interesting word maker I have known, and Ingrid Bergman perhaps the most freezingly beautiful woman. (Released by McNaught Syndicate Inc.)

INQUIRY LAUNCHED ON RADIO LICENSE

House Passes Resolution For Investigation Of Communication Permits

WASHINGTON, June 19.—(AP)—The house today approved a resolution to investigate the federal communication commission. The announced aim is to determine whether federal licenses have been issued to radio stations owned or operated by Communists.

The resolution, introduced by Rep. Harness (R-Ind) was adopted by overwhelming voice after Rep. Sabath (D-Ill) sought to block it.

Harness told the house that the FCC's licensing activities had aroused "widespread apprehension" and should be investigated immediately despite efforts to adjourn congress now.

Rep. Rayburn (D-Tex), the minority floor leader, also opposed the measure, declaring it was an "invasion" of the jurisdiction of the house interstate committee.

But Rep. Wolpert (R-NJ), chairman of the interstate committee denied that it would be an invasion of his group, and he told the house:

"This resolution does a thing we have been seeking to do, and that is a thorough investigation of the FCC." Rep. Cox (D-Ga), chairman of a special house group which investigated the FCC some years ago, said the FCC granted five licenses in two weeks "to a man who will testify he is a former member of the Communist party." He did not identify the individual.

Cox, who resigned his chairmanship in the midst of the old investigation, said he had been driven out by a "smear" campaign.

Both Harness and Cox were slated for appointment as members of the new five-man investigating committee. Harness told newsmen he will start the inquiry immediately.

Harness told the house that he had no specific "charges" against the FCC or any of its seven-man board, but he said the resolution "speaks for itself."

Among other things, the resolution calls for an investigation to determine whether the FCC has licensed radio stations owned or controlled by Communists or members of Communist-front organizations.

SET MEETING OF V. F. W. AUXILIARY

A special meeting will be held by the Ladies' Auxiliary to Rodney J. Hobbs Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Monday night, June 21, for the purpose of electing delegates to the national encampment to be held in St. Louis, Mo., August 29 through September 3.

A class of candidates are expected to be present and plans will be completed for the meeting to be held on Thursday night, June 24, to which all members of the Hobbs post are invited. Refreshments will be served and all members are urged to be present.

Much interest is being shown in the membership drive now in progress. The two candidates appointed are Mrs. Bessie Semmes and Mrs. Juanita Hammonds.

President Pauline K. Petty invites all mothers, wives, sisters and daughters of men who served overseas to attend the meeting and become members of the auxiliary.

He was stricken while visiting his daughter, Mrs. Raymond H. Keeler in Suburban Evanston. His home was in Tuolumne, Calif.

It was from his partnership with Richard W. Sears in 1891 that the huge mail order business grew.

His survivors in addition to his daughter, his widow, Sarah, and his son, Alvah Curtis Roebuck, Jr., of Tuolumne, and a grandson, Malcolm Roebuck Keeler, Evanston.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday in Evanston, with burial in Acacia Cemetery, Chicago.

Firemen from engine companies 2, 4 and ladder company 1 were called to the Supreme Bedding Company, 501 Texas avenue, shortly after 7:00 o'clock when a fire was caused from burning sawdust under the flooring. Only slight damage was reported, according to firemen.

As long as they are tattooed, Tahitian natives who take off their clothes are not immodest.

THE NATION TODAY
By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, June 19.—(AP)—Here is an ABC on the Republican national convention which opens Monday in Philadelphia.

Usually, a convention like that finishes up in one week. If it's deadlocked, it may go on for two weeks or more.

It will do three main things:

1. Choose a Republican candidate for president.
2. Choose a Republican candidate for vice-president.
3. Draw up a party platform.

(This platform is a list of the Republican promises of what they will do for the country, if they win in November.)

The platform is put together by a picked group of top Republicans. Then the convention automatically approves it.

The candidates will be chosen by delegates sent to the convention by Republicans in every state and the territories, like Hawaii and Alaska.

There are 1,094 of those delegates. At least 548 votes, a majority of the 1,094, are needed to nominate the candidates.

Those delegates don't vote in a secret ballot box like the one you'll use when you vote for a president in the November elections.

Their voting is wide open on the convention floor, with the delegates from each state or territory announcing their vote.

This doesn't mean each delegate individually pops up and says: "I vote for Joe Doakes."

When all the delegates of one state agreed to vote for one man, the delegation chairman stands up and announces the vote.

Sometimes there's a split among the delegates from one state, one group voting for one man, the other for another candidate. For example: Eight of Wisconsin's 27 delegates are pledged to vote for General MacArthur. The other 19 are pledged to Harold E. Stassen.

The delegates themselves have been picked in different ways to go to Philadelphia.

Some were chosen by Republican voters in their states in popular elections. Others were chosen by Republican state conventions.

Each state picks its delegates its own way. There's no single rule or method for doing it.

The delegates—although not all of them—usually go to the convention "instructed" or "pledged" to vote for a certain candidate.

The instructions or pledges are the result of state elections for delegates or agreements worked out in state conventions. For example: In Wisconsin in April different states of Republicans ran for election as delegates to this convention.

One group pledged itself to vote for Stassen, if elected; a second pledged itself to MacArthur; a third to New York's Governor Dewey. No Dewey man won. Those elected were: 19 pledged to Stassen, eight to MacArthur.

So in Philadelphia the Stassen delegates will vote for him, the MacArthur delegates for the general.

But all the Republican delegates from California are going to the convention pledged to vote for their governor, Earl Warren.

All this explains why Stassen and Dewey and Senator Taft, actively seeking nomination, have been so busy in the past months trying to line up delegates for themselves before the convention opens.

The first ballot won't mean anything. A number of state delegations will cast their first vote for a favorite like a governor or senator, as a tribute to him.

After that, if they're unpledged, they'll vote for one of the men they think has a chance to be nominated. And that's when the fun starts.

Suppose Taft, Dewey and Stassen have a certain number of votes pledged to them.

Suppose, say, ten ballots are cast and the votes of those three men don't vary much because of their pledged votes.

If then it becomes clear no one of them can get a majority, one may drop out and try to throw his votes to another.

If all three stubbornly refuse to yield to one another, a deal may have to be worked out to yield to some third man, who, up to that time, has been a kind of "dark horse," or man who hasn't been running strong.

MAJOR COMPANIES STEP UP SEARCH FOR OIL IN GULF

New Wells Being Drilled From Islands Of Steel And Wood

NEW ORLEANS, June 18.—(AP)—Major oil companies are stepping up their search for the new oil field under the Gulf of Mexico.

While federal and state governments argue over title to the rich offshore gulf bottom, new wells are being drilled from man-made hurricane roof islands of steel and wood.

The companies are operating on leases from the state, and have paid Louisiana more than $16,000,000 for drilling rights in the past four years. They are going on the assumption that congress will pass a pending bill confirming state ownership of bottoms to a distance of 27 miles from shore.

Two years ago President Truman signed a similar bill. And in 1947, the U. S. supreme court ruled that the federal government had primary rights in California's coastal waters.

But the present bill has the backing not only of the coastal states, but of 24 others which want title to mineral resources under inland waters.

The major oil companies have generally sided with the states, preferring their leasing terms to those of the federal government.

Interest in ownership of the coastal bottoms has been particularly high since Kerr McGee Industries brought in the first producing well in the open waters of the gulf last Nov. 14.

The Kerr McGee wildcat came in at about 1700 feet, in rather shallow water ten miles off Pointe Au Fer Island, about 8 miles southwest of New Orleans.

The state conservation department has allowed production of 400 barrels a day from the well. The company says it could make 900. However, there hasn't been any commercial production at all pending settlement with the coast guard of details as to types of barges and pipelines which may be used to carry off the fuel.

Some 20 companies have leased sections of the gulf floor, and plan definite operations costing 25 to 30 million dollars. Only half the available acreage has been assigned by the state.

Kerr McGee is drilling at a second location with plans for several more on the 40,000 acres it has leased. Stanolind Oil and Gas has established a marine department and will soon begin drilling at four open-water sites.

The California Company is moving in equipment off Vermilion parish and Humble is set to start work at an $800,000 permanent platform off Grand Isle, south of New Orleans.

The Humble project shows how ambitious an initial venture must be in the gulf operations. The drilling base is as high as a 17-story building, as many as seven tents are from this base, going down 13,000 feet.

Humble's mammoth platform is the first to be erected in water as deep as 50 feet. It covers a half acre, and is anchored by steel piles driven nearly 200 feet into the gulf floor. Parts exposed to waves are round with layers of glass fibre and tar to prevent corrosion.

The derrick floor rises 60 feet above the water. Two decks, each the size of a football field, provide the quarters for 54 men, racks for 15,000 feet of pipe, space for much other

RESTRICTS TEXAS OIL PRODUCTION

AUSTIN, Tex., June 16.—(AP)—Net permissive production of Texas crude oil for the next two months was set today at 2,625,680 barrels daily by the state railroad commission.

The oil order for July and August cuts the allowable production by 48,985 barrels daily below the allowable as of last Saturday, June 12.

The major part of the decrease results from a revision of maximum efficiency rates of production for fields in four districts.

The districts, with net changes in allowables, are district 3, gulf coast, down 10,718 barrels per day; district 4, southwest Texas, down 7,256; district 6, outside East Texas, down 5,515; and district 8, West Texas, down 15,328.

The commission made no attempt to calculate what actual production will total. Heretofore, the commission has estimated the amount of underproduction.

CLEARER UNDERSTANDING SEEN AFTER ARK. VISIT

JACKSON, Miss., June 19.—(AP)—Chairman James McClure of the new Mississippi Oil and Gas board says the members have "a clearer understanding of our responsibilities and of our duties in administering the new conservation act" since their trip to Arkansas.

The board spent two days with the Arkansas oil and gas conservation commission at its offices in El Dorado, visiting field near there and attending a hearing. The Arkansas conservation act is similar to the new Mississippi act.

Chairman McClure of Sardin, vice-chairman W. C. Leonard of Kosciusko and W. H. Maynard of Clarksdale, members of the commission, made the trip.

They were accompanied by H. M. Morse, oil and gas supervisor, and Assistant Attorney General John Stone, attorney for the board.

Boyle's Notebook

By Hal Boyle
NEW YORK, June 19.—(P)—Joseph "Yellow Kid" Weil was a poor but dishonest boy from Chicago who grew up to fleece the American public of $8,000,000.

He began by peddling a money-making cure at a buck a bottle and reached his peak by bilking an Omaha banker out of $350,000 in a fake stock deal.

Unrepentant at 70 but now reformed, this master American confidence man for fifty years has just written an autobiography which will make sour reading for scores of his victims.

For the "Yellow Kid," who posed variously as a mining engineer, famous author and wealthy broker, believes he is basically more honest than the people he swindled.

"You can't cheat an honest man," he says. "Every man who was ever swindled had decency in his heart. All the people I swindled had something in common—greed, the desire to acquire money."

He says that in most cases his victims were roused while they were eagerly trying to share in an enterprise which was illegal on the face.

In this way he made suckers out of wealthy men and women anxious to get something for nothing out of supposedly fixed horse races, rigged gambling games, and oil lands, stock issues, and copper mines which they supposedly could buy at bargain prices from unsuspecting owners.

Weil relates with some evidence of delight the times he swindled bankers, whose morality in the boom twenties he holds in little esteem.

Bankers seem to have been natural fall guys for his "get-rich-quick" bait.

With glib assurance he showed one Indianapolis banker a small machine that apparently could reproduce paper money. The banker, the "Yellow Kid" says, promptly suggested that they duplicate a hundred $1,000 bills from his own bank. Weil got $57,000 from him and left the banker in a hotel room trying to take out new bills from the fake machine.

What is the weakness of con men? Well, who used to throw $1,000 a night parties, says it is high living and pretty women. He believes a number of jail terms he served did less to cause his downfall than his attempts to go straight.

"There is a widespread notion that a clever swindler could be a great success if he turned his talents to legitimate channels," he says, "but nothing is further from the truth, for when a con man invests his money in a legitimate business he loses it."

MODEL PLANE CARRIERS — Four men are needed to carry a model of a Hastings four-engine transport plane for participation in the Royal Tournament at London's Olympia.

He dropped $750,000 trying to operate a hotel and $375,000 on a short-term lease of the Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus.

At three score and ten the "Yellow Kid's" cynicism about human nature can be measured by his mellow statement that he knows of meeting only one 100 per cent honest man in his life. The man offered to lend him money.

His solution to cut down swindling schemes: Pass a law making the victim as well as the con man subject to imprisonment if he knowingly is a party to a conspiracy to obtain money illegally. And he insists that in most swindles the victims have larceny in their hearts.

Aging now but debonair as ever, the "Yellow Kid" once known to the police of two continents, earns a modest living doing telephone soliciting for charitable organizations.

"Needless to say," he adds carefully, "I do not handle any of the funds. I am paid a percentage."

The $8,000,000? Gone—all gone.

GERMAN ORIGIN PERSONS ARRESTED, PLOT CHARGED

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, June 19.—(P)—The government radio said tonight that 24 persons of German origin or nationality were arrested at Brunn, Moravia, today in a newly-discovered plot against the Czechoslovak state.

The radio quoted district security police as saying the group was in contact with "a foreign power" and that it had collected arms and sent out information threatening the security of the state.

FRENCH GOVERNMENT PLACES HOPES ON GOD AND U. S. AID

Weather For Wheat Harvest And American Dollars Will Support Schuman

(EDITOR'S NOTE: France again is entering a critical period for the next five months which centers on two elections—in France and the United States. In the following dispatch Joseph E. Dynan, seasoned Associated Press staff man in Paris, analyzes the French political situation for American Sunday readers.)

By Joseph E. Dynan
PARIS, June 19.—(P)—Premier Robert Schuman is depending on providence and the Marshall Plan in the five critical months ahead.

The crucial period began with this week's rash of strikes and the narrow squeak in parliament on approval of the six-power London agreement on Germany.

In domestic affairs the test date is some time in October when Frenchmen will choose a new council of the republic, which somewhat corresponds to the American senate, in a series of indirect ballots.

On the foreign front, the tests begin this week in Philadelphia and the key date is the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November when Americans will elect their leader in world policy for the next four years.

Between then and now the shaky Schuman coalition, with six months in office behind it, must master complicated wage and price problems, choke off monetary inflation, boost production and maintain peace among the divergent interests represented in the cabinet by the popular Republicans (MRP), Socialists and Radical Socialists.

To bolster this middle-of-the-road government, Schuman needs good weather (Providence) and revival of western European economy (the Marshall Plan).

The weather is important because France is now in the midst of what Frenchmen call the "soudure"—the gap—between one year's wheat stocks and the coming harvest. Supplies are very low. But the nation is also on the verge of one of its best crops on record—if the weather is right.

With a good harvest, it would no longer be necessary to use foreign credits and scarce shipping space for foodstuffs. The money and bottom could be used for machinery, raw materials, and consumer goods. These, in turn, it is hoped, would stabilize the economy, boost production and cut the sky-high prices.

American aid which would permit the importation of these machines, raw materials and goods is the other large factor. It is tied to increased trade with the other European nations within the 18-member European Economic Cooperation Organization. Now since ratification of the London accord, it is also linked with a controlled reconstruction of western Germany as a production center for all western Europe.

To a government which has put its blue chips on the American number, the Republican National Convention has vital importance.

France, under Schuman and his predecessor Paul Ramadier, has gone wholeheartedly into preparations for a western European federation—eventually perhaps a United States of Europe—but stressed by American economic and strategic support.

As Paul Reynaud remarked, in effect, during the assembly's debate on the six-power German proposals, France has to get in on the ground floor of the European federation or Germany will do it.

All this depends on the continuation of America's bipartisan foreign policy along lines laid down by the present administration and the present congress.

WILL PASS SENTENCE UPON SOLDIER SLAYER

NEW ORLEANS, June 19.—(P)—Judge Hugh B. Gillespie is expected to pass sentence sometime during the current term of Dr. Levi B. McCarty in connection with the slaying last January of Staff Sgt. Milton McCoy.

The judge accepted the recommendation of District Attorney M. M. McGowan Friday night that Dr. McCarty be allowed to change his plea of innocent of murder to one of guilty of manslaughter.

Judge Gillespie took under advisement, however, another recommendation by McGowan that Dr. McCarty be sentenced to 15 years in the penitentiary on the manslaughter plea.

Dr. McCarty was charged with slaying McCoy and another man and wounding two others in a suburban night club last January 4.

The move by the district attorney came after five days of Dr. McCarty's trial on charges of slaying McCoy.

The defense introduced witnesses in an effort to prove that the defendant was insane at the time of the killing.

FUDICKAR GRANDSON FOUND DEAD IN BED

Death struck suddenly and from causes that are as yet unknown when Benjamin Pace, Jr., aged two years, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fudickar, Sr., of Monroe, was found dead in his bed in the family home in Tulsa, Okla., Wednesday night. An autopsy failed to disclose the cause of death.

On Wednesday night, the little fellow developed a slight fever and his mother gave him a supposedly harmless remedy, causing him to go to sleep. Two hours later, his mother returned to his bedside and was amazed and shocked to find him dead.

Following the autopsy, further investigation is in progress to determine the cause of death. The funeral was held at the home in Tulsa Friday morning and interment was held there.

The parents and a sister five years of age are survivors of the family.

Mrs. Benjamin Pace, Sr., who before her marriage was Mary Louise Fudickar, of Monroe, had been summoned here, bringing her small son and daughter, when her mother, Mrs. Fred Fudickar, Sr., was seriously ill from a heart attack. She improved and in two weeks time Mrs. Pace and her children returned to their Tulsa home and she had been back there but two days when her small son died.

INDIANS SNAP LOSING STREAK TO BLANK A'S

ATHLETICS TAKE 4-0 LOSS, FALL 2 GAMES BEHIND

Muncief, With 3-Hitter For Seven Innings, Hurt By Line Drive

CLEVELAND, June 19.—(AP)—The league-leading Cleveland Indians, who haven't been getting much pitching lately, got plenty of it today when Bob Muncief and Russ Christopher combined for a brilliant three-hit shutout as the Indians downed the Philadelphia Athletics 4 to 0.

Muncief, who pitched for the first seven innings, but was forced to retire after that stanza when a line drive by Hank Majeski's bat struck him on the elbow of his pitching arm. He was taken to a hospital for X-ray examination. Christopher took over for the final two innings and kept Philadelphia in check to complete the shutout.

Bill McCahan allowed the Indians only six hits but the Tribe men utilized four of them in scoring.

The win snapped a five-game losing streak for the Indians and boosted their first place margin over the pesky A's to two games.

STARS PLAY JULY 5

RUSTON, June 19.—(Special)—The Big Eight League's All-Star game is scheduled to be played here Monday night, July 5. It has been announced by Larry Fox, league president.

The circuit's four northern teams, Bernice, Dubach, Sterlington and Marion will pool their resources for the North All-Stars against the South All-Stars of the combined Ruston teams and Hodge and Simsboro.

Tom Herrin, who holds the league's strikeout record of 19 in one game, will likely get the starting call to pitch for the South, while the league's newcomer, Chappin of Dubach, is expected to open the game as hurler for the North.

Considerable interest is being manifested by the fans in the All-Star game, proceeds of which will go to the league treasury.

Add Stature to Grid Giants

Four of last season's brightest college stars are welcomed to the New York Giants' professional football squad by Paul Governali, the team's ex-Columbia passing luminary of 1947. Left to right: Columbia end Bill Swiacki, Mississippi triple threat Charley Conerly, Governali, Columbia end Bruce Gehrke and Pennsylvania tailback Skippy Minisi. Governali is admiring Conerly's contract.

CRAYSON'S

SCOREBOARD

By Harry Grayson
 NEW YORK, June 19.—(NEA)—Although he developed most of the Yankees as their No. 1 minor league manager, Bill Meyer was for years denied the right to manage a major league club.

Finally given the opportunity by the new Pirate owners when their club struck rock bottom last season, Meyer is continuing his Triple A wizardry in the National League.

Fans scarcely recognize the Pittsburgh's fighting for the lead.

The Buccaners are playing old-fashioned Yankee baseball, with Danny Murtaugh, an Eddie Stanky type second baseman, doing much of the quick-thinking on the field. They back up plays, and hustle the other side right out of the park.

Manager Meyer has Dixie Walker and other veterans everlastingly talking to the younger fellows about the value and importance of being on a pennant-winner.

Meyer is credited with having vastly improved the strapping right-hander, Hal Gregg, one of the numerous athletes obtained from the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Dixie Walker, who performed behind Gregg at Ebbets Field, was asked about that. "Certainly he has improved Gregg and a lot of others," replied the outfielder who was the people's choice in Flatbush. "but you can't put your finger on any one thing. He does it with just a little suggestion here and there. It's a pleasure to play ball for a man like him."

Down through the years baseball writers have got the same reply from ballplayers who have ever been associated with Meyer. Asked who taught them the most, the reply always has been, "Bill Meyer."

Some alleged experts call the Pirates a three-man club—Elder Field, Frankie Gustine and Home Run Kiner.

There is considerable more to them than that, however, and Murtaugh contributes a full share, and then some.

He caught the eye of Pittsburgh's front office when he threw a big year for Milwaukee, after having been sent there by the Braves.

Murtaugh is given a great deal of credit for the rapid development of Alvin Dark, the Louisiana State shortstop now with the Boston Nationals. The pair were largely instrumental in winning the American Association play-offs, and edging Syracuse in the Little World Series.

Billy Southworth was criticized somewhat for shipping Murtaugh to the Braves when he apparently was badly in need of a second sacker, although the Beantown boss attributed the Braves being last in double plays in 1947 to the fact that Connie Ryan played alongside three different shortstops, none of whom was up to the part.

Anyway, the Pirates insisted that Danny Murtaugh come with Johnny Hopp in the deal for Jim Russell, Bill Salkeld and Al Lyons.

There were changes made in Pittsburgh, of course, but everybody associated with the Pirates will tell you that the man who wrapped up the present surprise package is the soft-spoken and efficient old catcher, Bill Meyer.

JUNIOR GOLF TOURNEY

SLATED FOR JACKSON

JACKSON, Miss., June 19.—(AP)—The annual Junior Golf Tournament of Mississippi will be played at the Jackson Country Club July 12-13.

John Pegues of Greenwood, 1947 champion, has announced his intention of defending his title. The field also will include James Reeves of Jackson, 1946 champion.

Pegues, Reeves, Ed Kittleman of Greenville and Lynn and Mort Jordan of Greenwood made up the Mississippi team to the National Tournament in Peoria, Ill., last year.

All are eligible to qualify this year in the state event for the national tournament at Lincoln, Neb.

The state tournament is sponsored by the Jackson Junior Chamber of Commerce. It is open to all Mississippi boys who will not reach their 19th birthday by August 3.

Double Main Event Will Feature Mat Program Here Tuesday Night

Rex Mobley To Battle Henry Harrell; Carlin Faces Bradley

A double main event matching Henry Harrell against Rex Mobley and Johnny Carlin against Promoter Gus Kallio for his weekly wrestling show here Tuesday night.

Mobley, world's light heavyweight champion, won't be risking his crown this trip, but the battle is regarded as a possible build-up toward a championship scramble for the young Tennessee tussler who has looked mightily impressive in his frequent appearances here.

Harrell was once the Louisiana state light heavyweight champion, a belt that is also held at the present time by Mobley. The Texas City, Tex. champ won the state crown shortly before reclaiming the world's belt for the third time from Charlie Laye.

Kallio revealed last night that he had made an effort to have Mobley defend his title against Harrell, but the champ declined to offer the Memphis roughhouse brawler the opportunity "until he shows something better."

Thus it is left up to Harrell to show something better, and a victory over Mobley Tuesday should be convincing enough that the champ has a real challenger to contend with although batters like Jack Curtis, Charlie Laye, and "Singer" Steele are considered top threats right now.

Tom Bradley, the Portland, Ore., lumberjack, returns after a brief absence to try his talents against the bruising work of Johnny Carlin, the veteran Minnesota Swede.

Both matches will have time limits of an hour and fifteen minutes with two falls to win.

The order in which the matches appear on the card won't be decided until shortly before ringtime Tuesday, but the first scrap begins at 8:30 o'clock.

ROBINSON FIGHTS TO HOLD WEIGHT FOR TITLE SCRAP

Delayed Bout With Docusen Slated Again For Tomorrow Night

CHICAGO, June 19.—(AP)—When—and if—Welterweight Champion Ray Robinson gets into the ring at Comiskey Park Monday night, he'll be ready for raw meat, literally and figuratively.

Robinson belatedly is scheduled to take on 21-year-old Bernard Docusen of New Orleans in his third title defense, if:

1. The champion can make the 147 title poundage at Monday noon's second weigh-in for the fight.
2. He doesn't call the whole thing off and go back in a huff to New York, causing the Illinois Athletic Commission to declare his title vacant.

It doesn't rain again as it did last Thursday night when the 15-round title go originally was scheduled.

The commission scales began being a night-marish contraption for Robinson last Thursday noon when he peeled off everything except his skin to hit 147 on the head—and that after starving and "sweating out" for several days.

Robinson and his entire retinue hollered loudly, but unsuccessfully when the commission said he would have to weigh in again Monday. This isn't the procedure when a fight is delayed only 24 hours, as the recent Tony Zale-Rocky Graziano bout, but the fight promoters had to arrange a four-day postponement because the Chicago White Sox were busy at Comiskey Park this week end.

Robinson's manager, George Gairdull, at first said Robinson would forget about the whole thing, rather than undergo another weakening weight-trimming schedule.

But the champion, who has put up $10,000 as a performance guarantee and another $10,000 as a weight forfeit, apparently thought the loss of $10,000, plus a good chance of meeting Mildred Champion Zelle if he kayoes Robinson, would be much more painful than whittling away a stubborn pound or two of flesh.

So, at this reading, Robinson is preparing for his second battle of the scales, mainly through heavy road work.

If it rains Monday night, the commission probably would demand that a new date be set. That would be a calamitous blow to Promoter Irving Kovin, who says he has between $40,000 and $50,000 worth of tickets already sold which would have to be refunded. Kovin, hoping for a $100,000 gate, figures the postponement already has cost him $10,000 extra in expenses.

Virus Infection, Not Second-Year Jinx, Bothering Ewell Blackwell

By Harry Grayson
 NEW YORK, June 19.—(NEA)—What's wrong with Ewell Blackwell? Well, first it was a pulled muscle in his shoulder that sidelined the Reds' great young right-hander for nearly a month.

And more recently, Blackwell has been a sick six-foot six-inch with a virus infection, which in his case is a mild attack of flu.

A year ago at this time, Blackwell had bagged 11 games, and was Hammering Hank further circumsvents anything in the nature of a trick defense by swatting the sphere from borough to borough to such an extent that he shows the way to 1947 co-champion Ralph Kiner and the home run manufacturers of both major leagues.

He hooked one down the right field foul line for a triple against the Braves the other afternoon. If he could acquire a habit of doing this now and then, the big fellow really would be a terror.

Manager Neun built his hopes round Stallcup and Sauer, and the pair have exceeded his fondest expectations.

The one he banked on heaviest, Blackwell, is the one who has been retarded.

But it isn't the second-year jinx that is bothering Ewell Blackwell, and the man who winds up like an octopus will wrap himself around a number of games before the last shot is fired.

That's why the Reds believe they will be very much in contention in a wide-open race right down to the wire.

National average yield of flax in the United States in 1946 was 9.6 bushels an acre.

Bucky Walters went on the disabled list with a bad knee.

Augie Galan hurt his elbow.

Herman Wehmeier, large 21-year-old right-hander, brought in from Syracuse, took up considerable of the pitching slack, however, winning five of his first six.

And Claude Corbitt, an experienced hand from Syracuse, batted .300 and filled in so well at third and second that Adams will have difficulty getting him out of there.

Meanwhile, teh freshmen, Red Stallcup and towering Hank Sauer, and Johnny Wyrostek, obtained from the Phillies, have been the life of the Rhineland party.

The tall and seemingly stiff-backed Stallcup has lived up to all the raves about him as a shortstop, and is batting .292, after having hit no more than .210 for the first three weeks.

BONITA BLASTED BY RED SOX, 20-0

Winnsboro At Home To Keesler Field Fliers Tomorrow Night

WINNSBORO, La., June 19.—(Special)—Error-happy Bonita, leader of the Delta League, committed 13 errors here last night and the Winnsboro Red Sox, pairing the mis-cues with 16 hits, went on to a 20-0 rout of the visiting Bonita club.

Meanwhile, Buck Hollis, pitching for the Sox, held the visitors to eight hits and struckout 16 batters. Johnny Ballance, with four hits in six times at bat, and Lantz Womack, with three for five, led the Winnsboro attack. Bill Godwin poked out a homer.

It was a challenge game played on a "winner-take-all" basis.

The Keesler Field Fliers, of Biloxi, Miss., leaders of the Gulf Coast League, will be in Winnsboro Monday night for a meeting with the Sox at 8:15 o'clock at Memorial Park.

FAST CLIMBING BUCS THREATEN BRAVES' LEAD

3-RUN UPRISING IN NINTH BRINGS PIRATES, 7-6 WIN

Boston Shuts Out Redlegs, 5-0; Giants Master Cardinals

PHILADELPHIA, June 19.—(P)—The Pittsburgh Pirates today scored three times in the ninth inning on only one hit to defeat the Philadelphia Phillies, 7 to 6.

It was the sixth straight victory for the Bucs and the third successive triumph for Rookie Bob Chesnes, who has yet to be defeated.

The Phils socked Chesnes for 12 safeties and held an apparently safe 6-4 lead going into the ninth, but Walt Dubiel pitching in relief of Schoolboy Rowe promptly ran into a peck of trouble.

Johnny Hopp singled, Frank Gustine walked, Dixie Walker sacrificed and reached first when Dick Sisler dropped the throw. Ralph Kiner's run producing fly brought Kenny Heintzelman in to pitch. He promptly uncorked a wild pitch, allowing the tying run to score.

The winning counter came across the plate on Max West's pinch hit fly to right.

MUNICIPAL GOLF TEAM INVADING NATCHEZ TODAY

Inter-City Matches Begin At 1 p. m.; Lions Event Starts Monday

An inter-city match and a civic club tournament focus the attention of golfers in this area on the Municipal Golf Club of Monroe this week—today C. J. Shirah and his Muny divot diggers are playing the Natchez golfers at Natchez, and tomorrow the Lions Club Tournament will be conducted over the municipal layout.

Pro Shirah last night said any members of the Lions Club in the state of Louisiana are eligible to compete in the tournament being held tomorrow.

The championship of the Lions Club event will be determined by one round of medal play, the low medal winner for 18 holes being declared the winner.

The event will also be offering awards for other winners, including the blind bogey, runner-up for blind bogey, runner-up for low medal; winner of high net, and winner of low net.

Shirah said tournament contenders would be permitted to play their 18-hole round at any time tomorrow.

Meanwhile, Municipal Golf Club members this morning will be heading for Natchez and their inter-city scramble over the Duncan Park course this afternoon, beginning at 1 o'clock.

Pro Shirah last night announced a revised list of Muny team members and said that any others desiring to play with the Monroe club should be on hand at Natchez in time to play this afternoon.

The present Monroe roster includes Earl Morin, Capt. H. E. Roberts, Hiller Hensdorfer, Al Jones, Ken Roby, C. J. Corbin, John C. Eby, Vernon Sellers, C. R. Baur, O. B. Moses, E. E. Law, J. L. Williams, Henry Princehouse, Curtis Nichols, Larry Saltzman, Charles Regan, Byron Grigsby, Henry Gilliland, Herbert Land, and Amos Smelser.

INSULATION EASY

It is easy to insulate an unfinished attic by nailing full-thick batts or blankets of mineral wool between roof rafters or floor joists. This will prevent super-heated air from the roof, often reaching 150 degrees, from entering the living quarters.

Yankees To Open Tryout Baseball Camp For Youths Here Tomorrow

Atley Donald, Wally Berger In Charge Of Work At Neville Field

Any ambitious young baseball players between the ages of 16 and 22 years desiring to display their talents before New York Yankee scouts will get the chance here tomorrow and Tuesday when the Yankee system opens a two-day tryout camp on the Neville High School Field.

Scouts Atley Donald and Wally Berger will be in charge of the camp which starts at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The Yankee invitation for tryout talent is extended to all youths throughout this section of the state and a large turnout of boys is expected.

The wide-spread tryout camp program of the Yankees has provided the opportunity for many youngsters to launch themselves on a successful

POTTS, RICHARDSON SCORE AT DAVIDSON

DAVIDSON, N. C., June 19.—(P)—Heat and endurance gave second-seeded Steve Potts of Memphis, Tenn., the Junior singles title in the Southern Junior and Boys Tennis Tournament here today.

Potts won by default when top-seeded Charles Devoe of Indianapolis, Ind., could no longer continue their final match after three hours and 45 minutes of play.

At that point, the two stars tied up in four sets. Devoe took the first, 15-13, and the third, 6-3. Potts took the other two, 6-2 and 8-6.

Devoe's condition at the end of the grueling match forced rescheduling of the Junior doubles finals, officials set the match for Monday at Sulacanga, Ala., scene of the Cotton States Tennis Tournament.

Earlier, top-seeded Ham Richardson of Baton Rouge, La., captured the Boys' title by whipping second-seeded Bobby Sierra of Tampa, Fla., 6-0, 6-4. Richardson and Sierra teamed up to take the doubles crown, defeating the New Orleans combination of Mickey Sheehan and Gamble Favort, 6-2, 6-3.

BATHERS STILL LEADING LOOP BATTING, FIELDING

EL DORADO, Ark., June 19.—(P)—Hot Springs second-place Bathers, steadily closing the gap between themselves and the leading Greenwood Bathers, still have the Cotton States League in club batting and fielding.

Through games of June 15, the Bathers had a team batting average of .274. Natchez was second with .262 and Clarkdale third with .261.

In fielding, Hot Springs held a mark of .956, followed by Greenwood with .950 and Pine Bluff with .947.

At Davidson, Herb Adams leads the individual batters with a .402 average. In second place is John Jakurov, Pine Bluff, with .369. Greenwood's Eddie Nidds is third with .344.

The list of undefeated pitchers were trimmed down to five, with Cotton Hill of Greenville in front with four victories. Also still unbeaten are Richardson, Greenwood; Beech, Natchez; Dean, Greenville, and Goycau, Natchez.

The Clarkdale-Natchez game of June 15 and the Greenville-Pine Bluff game of June 13 are not included in the averages. The latter was declared no contest and was ordered replayed.

AVOID COLDS

A home insulated full-thick with mineral wool this summer will considerably reduce the danger of colds caused by drafts next winter. In an insulated home, there is relatively little movement of air, and drafts are thus eliminated.

Scout Atley Donald, a former Downsville High School and Louisiana Tech athlete before joining the Yankees a few years ago as a pitcher yesterday said he and Berger would conduct a tryout, throwing, infield workout, and batting practice routines, and would also play actual games in order to best estimate the professional possibilities of the players attending the camp.

Players must pay their own expenses to the camp and provide their own uniform, glove, and shoes. However, those players signed to a contract will have those expenses reimbursed.

There will be no red tape about enrolling for the tryouts. All that is necessary is for the boys to appear at the Neville diamond ready to show their stuff.

"Wenchie" Rawls hurled a no-hit shutout at Red Shield Club yesterday as Monroe Exterminating Company won its third straight contest in the Recreation Baseball League campaign, 14 to 0. The Exterminators backed Rawls with errorless ball and connected seven hits. One of them a homer by Bosely with two mates on bases. Goodwin hit safely twice for the winners. B. Carter was Rawls' catcher. The losing battery was Brown and Jones.

Louisiana Training Institute came through with its first victory by noing out the News-Star Publishers, 5 to 4, in a hard fought contest that saw both teams get only five hits.

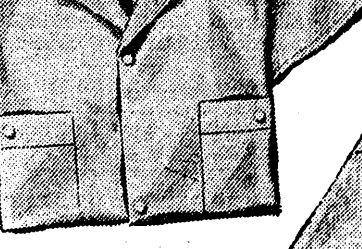

The L. T. I. win, coupled with Red Shield and News-Star losses, threw the three clubs into a tie for second place in the league standings.

Smart, hurling for L. T. I., struck out 17 batters and issued only one base on balls. Blanchard caught for the Pels. Henry, Brown and Boles shared the pitching for the Publishers with Woods and Bayles doing the catching. Nichols led the L. T. I. attack with two hits, one a triple. Tunnay Bayles hit safely twice for the losers, and Woods connected with a triple.

WHITE HOUSE GETS BIG REFUGEE BILL

Opponents Of Proposal Say Parts Are Discriminatory Against Sects

WASHINGTON, June 19.—(AP)—Congress finished work today on a bill to admit 205,000 homeless Europeans to the United States in the next two years.

The senate passed the compromise measure by a voice vote, sending it to the White House. The house approved the measure yesterday.

A heated dispute over its terms flared during the senate debate, which ran on for more than two hours.

Senators Ferguson (R-Mich.) and Kilgore (D-W. Va.) denounced the bill as "discriminatory" and "unworkable." Senator Revercomb (R-W. Va.), floor manager for the legislation, upheld it as did Senators Wiley (R-Wis.), Donnell (R-Mo.) and others.

Specifically, opponents of the measure contended it was unfair to Jews and Catholics. Senator McGrath (D-R. I.) asserted it would write into law principles of "narrowness, intolerance and bigotry."

Revercomb replied flatly that "there is no discrimination against anyone because of religion or faith, and I say so emphatically."

It would authorize the admission of 200,000 displaced persons who come within stated eligibility rules, 3,000 orphans under 16 years of age, and 2,000 persons who fled from Czechoslovakia after the Communists seized control of that country.

In addition, the measure would allow 15,000 aliens now in the United States to become permanent residents if the affirmative approval of congress is obtained in each case.

The eligibility rules for D. P.'s require that they must have entered the occupation zones of Germany or Austria before December 22, 1945; that at least 40 per cent of the 200,000 must come from areas annexed by a foreign power (this means eastern Poland, Latvia, Lithuania and Estonia); and that at least 30 per cent of the immigrants must be trained farmers prepared to work on American farms.

The 1945 deadline brought on the most argument. Opponents of that clause told the senate that thousands of Jewish wanderers, driven from their homes by fear or threats of persecution entered the D. P. camps after December 22, 1945. The requirement that at least 40 per cent of the immigrants come from the Baltic area was cited as discriminatory to Catholics. Few Catholics normally lived in that area.

Senator Cooper (R-Ky.) estimated that the bill would permit the entry of 16,000 Jews. He called the bill the first step by a major power toward settling the D. P. problem.

'COON'S' RAMBLING DAYS COME TO END

'Racky,' the rambling coon, was released from the city jail early Saturday morning and the charges dropped when his mistress, Mrs. Lillie Anthony, of Highland Park addition, came to his rescue.

The pet racoon had disappeared some three weeks ago, according to Mrs. Anthony, who knew nothing of his whereabouts until he made the front page of the Morning World, Friday.

Several people called to inquire about claiming 'Racky.' Chief H. T. Ward said, but he was not released until properly identified by his owner.

'Racky's' arrest was made Thursday morning, after he broke in an undisclosed residence and disrupted the household.

During the three days 'Racky' was in jail, he became a favorite with the prisoners who soiled him with peanuts and tobacco. But realizing all good things must come to an end sometime, 'Racky' bid his fellow prisoners so long and returned to his home.

MARINE GETS JUSTICE, MERCY IN COURT TRIAL

SPOKANE, June 19.—(AP)—A young marine on his last leave before overseas duty got justice and mercy in the same court yesterday—but from different sources.

The fine levied for negligent driving when his auto crashed into another was $50 and costs. Damage to the other car was $250.

The marine could meet neither amount. He faced a jail sentence. A woman was the mercy party with a $50 check covering the fine.

Asked what her interest in the case was, she pointed to her husband and replied, "It was our car."

Your car rides on air—why not YOU?

New Plymouth Air Pillow Ride!

You and your car both ride on air with this great new Plymouth advance. You relax on Airfoam seat cushions* composed of millions of tiny air pillows while your Plymouth glides along on softer, fatter Super-Cushion Tires.

It's the sensational new Plymouth Air Pillow Ride. The super-comfort seat is a buoyant pillow between you and the road. The super-tires soak up road shocks from the side as well as below.

Foam-light and chair-height, the seats give to the lightest pressure, mold themselves to any position of your body for restful support. When you get up, the airy cushioning instantly resumes its original shape. And it will retain that shape years longer than ordinary cushions.

Airfoam seat cushions and Super-Cushion Tires add two more to the long list of advances that have made the Plymouth Ride so outstanding in the lowest-priced field. This famous Ride is a scientifically balanced combination of such features as:

117" Wheelbase—longest in the lowest-priced field—for smoother, more level riding.

Scientific Weight Distribution that permits passengers to ride in cradled comfort between the axles.

Balanced Springing to synchronize front and rear spring action.

Independent Front Wheel Springing that permits coil front springs of soft-acting Amola Steel to move over road obstructions independently of each other.

Amola Steel Rear Springs with special grooving to increase cushioning.

Hotchkiss Drive which transmits driving force through the rear springs for cushioned starting and stopping.

Airplane-Type Shock Absorbers to take the severest road shock with controlled rebound of springs.

Front End Sway Eliminator to stabilize your car as it travels around curves.

Low Unsprung Weight to reduce bouncing of the wheels.

Floating Power Engine Mountings insulating the power plant from the frame.

All together these many engineering advances add up to a gliding Ride so restful that even long journeys leave you fresh and untired. Yes, there's a lot of difference in low-priced cars. And in performance, safety and beauty, as in Ride, it's Plymouth that makes the difference.

Miss Godfrey Is Lovely June Bride

One Of The Season's Most Prominent Nuptials Takes Place At Grace Church

White gladioli, highlighting the dim recesses of Grace Episcopal Church, and myriad cathedral candles glowing in wrought iron floor candelabra, wreathed in huckleberry vine, formed the setting for the wedding of Miss Cleta Slagle Godfrey and Dr. Carl Otis Murray, Jr., Tuesday, June 15, at Grace Episcopal Church, 8 o'clock.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Edward Godfrey and Dr. Murray's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Carl Otis Murray of Crockett, Texas.

Mrs. Delaware Albritton at the organ played "Romance," by Rubinstein, "Wedding Vow," by Dr. Ferriera and "Perfect Love" while the guests assembled. The soloist, Mrs. Clyde Sanders, sang Schubert's "Ave Maria" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Miss Jerry Biedenharn, maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Lucille Murray, sister of the groom, Miss June Lewis, Miss Gwen Walker, Miss Sara Terzia, Mrs. Hunter Pierson, Miss Margaret Hever of Chattanooga, Tenn., and Mrs. Sellers Thomas of Houston, Tex., were identically gowned in flesh pink marquisette and lace, bouffant in style. Narrow ruffles of the material formed the drop shoulder of the slim lace bodices. They carried bouquets of pink gladioli tied with green ribbon.

Dr. Sellers Thomas of Houston, Tex., served as best man. Groomsman were: Mr. Aylmer Montgomery, Jr., Mr. Elmer Slagle, Jr., Dr. Jack Tom Jackson, Mr. Jack Clendenin of Amarillo, Tex., Dr. Louis Turbeville of Dallas, Tex., Mr. Dan Julian of Waco, Tex., Mr. James Noe, Jr., and Mr. Isham Evans of Sugarlock, Miss. They all wore summer formals.

The bride wore an utterly feminine wedding gown of white mousseline-de-soi. It was fashioned along bouffant lines with billowing skirt and high necked, tight fitting bodice. A bertha in drop-shoulder effect was embroidered in crystal beads and fresh sequins. The full sleeves were of wrist length.

The bride wore her veil of illusion over her face when she walked to the altar with her father who gave her in marriage. It was thrown back after the ceremony. She carried a white satin prayer book surmounted with small white orchids.

Mrs. Godfrey, the bride's mother, walked down the aisle in a lovely gown of azure blue embroidered in white sequins. She wore white roses in her hair and a corsage of roses and Stephanotis. Mrs. Murray, the bridegroom's mother, wore a lovely grey crepe model, elegant in detail.

BRIDE AND GROOM OF RECENT DATE

Mr. and Mrs. Monroe H. Alford, whose wedding of recent date was of interest, are seen cutting their wedding cake at the reception following the ceremony.

She wore a small hat of grey tulle and a corsage of green orchids.

Brilliant Reception

The spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Biedenharn on Pargoud boulevard was the scene of a brilliant reception following the ceremony. Their two daughters, Misses Jo Ann and Jerry Biedenharn, also served as hostesses. Miss Jo Ann Biedenharn, wearing a bouffant gown of white embroidered batiste over azure blue, welcomed the guests in the foyer where pale pink carnations and pink peonies were placed in artistic arrangement in the circle of the winding stairs.

Mrs. Biedenharn, wearing a beautiful evening gown of black lace and chiffon with corsage of self material, stood with the mothers of the bride and bridegroom in the drawing room where pale pink peonies harmonized beautifully with the furnishings. Mrs. Ray Johns received in the sun parlor.

Cut Wedding Cake

The bride's table in the candlelit dining room was overlaid with imported lace and linen cloth. The cake, an artistic double ring confection embossed in pale pink bride's roses, occupied the center of the table. It was cut by the bride and groom before they left on their honeymoon. Frosted frappe was passed by white coated attendants and trays laden with individual wedding cakes were passed among the guests by a coterie of charming young women in summery evening gowns. They were: Misses Cherry Bernstein, Betty Sue Shotwell, Esther Ewing, Sally Foster,

Jackie Walker, Marguerite Lamkin, Joy Harper and June Sherrouse. The bride traveled in a distinctive tulle of beige-pink gabardine with cocoa brown accessories.

Mrs. Murray attended Newcomb College where she was a member of Chi Omega Sorority.

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY UNITES MISS FUTRELL AND MR. ALFORD

An impressive ceremony at twilight united in marriage Miss Sybil Joe Futrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Futrell and Mr. Monroe Havis Alford, son of Mrs. Gilmer Alford and the late Mr. Alford, at the Sterling Methodist Church with Rev. R. E. Walton, officiating.

Marconi daisies, myriads of them, banked the altar and entwined the ivory covered chancel rail. Candles in seven-branched candelabra gleamed in the background. They were lighted by Misses Shirley Ann Gulley and Willie Mae Thomas.

Sprays of white gladioli tied with bridal tulle marked pews reserved for members of the two families and their intimate friends.

While the guests were being seated a program of nuptial music was rendered by Mrs. Fred Perry, violinist, and Mrs. Tom D. Wafer, pianist. The soloist Reginald M. Spencer, sang "All For You."

Misses Sue Hearn, Helen Hudson, Alice Mae Collier, Cosette Dugdale, bridesmaids, wore dresses in the pastel colors. Mid'n. Oel L. Futrell, Jr., brother of the bride served as best man, with Fred D. Gulley, Billy Williamson, Mitchell Dugdale, were groomsmen, Barbara Ann Gulley and Bonnie Sue Edminton, flower girls, wore crisp white organdy frocks and carried old fashioned bouquets.

Mrs. Futrell, the bride's mother, wore a blue shadow-lace model with white accessories and a corsage of orchid colored gladioli. Mrs. Alford, the bridegroom's mother, wore a navy blue model with white accessories and a corsage of orchid gladioli.

arrangement of magnolias. At one end was the wedding cake embossed with lilies of the valley and topped with bride and groom figurines. Mrs. Lester Hearn officiated after the cake was cut by the bride and the bridegroom. Mrs. Frank Roach, Mrs. R. E. Walton, and Mrs. W. R. Davis, alternated at the crystal punch bowl, flanked by candelabra supporting white tapers. Assisting in the courtesies were, Mrs. P. A. Post, Mrs. O. J. Parker, Sr.; and Mrs. C. R. Alexander. A bowl of magnolia blossoms also graced the table where guests signed the bride's book. The lovely gifts were on display. A

JUNE BRIDES HERE'S a valuable tip on keeping your husband's love. . . . Feed him MEL-O-TOAST BREAD from the CITY BAKERY three times a day. Give him MEL-O-TOAST, toasted a golden brown, in the morning. MEL-O-TOAST always toasts an even brown all over. . . . it's crunchy and delicious. For these hot days always have a plate of sandwiches on hand, but be sure they are made of MEL-O-TOAST BREAD from the CITY BAKERY—it keeps fresh longer because it's packed with minerals to keep it that way.

MOTHERS, ATTENTION! THE YORK SHOP is showing BUSTER BROWN barefoot sandals, reinforced and in soft, pliable leather for your youngsters' summertime wear. Don't run the risk of tender little feet suffering from incorrect shoes this summer, go to the YORK SHOP where feet are X-rayed and the proper BUSTER BROWN SHOE selected. They cost no more than those of inferior quality.

WIN HER HEART and hold her heart. . . . Send flowers with regularity from the WEST SIDE FLOWER AND GIFT SHOP. She'll love receiving flowers from you, especially if they come from the WEST SIDE FLOWER AND GIFT SHOP, where they are arranged skillfully and are always fresh. A wilted flower never leaves this shop. . . . always remember this. What better way to express your appreciation for a courtesy extended than to send your nooses flowers from the WEST SIDE FLOWER AND GIFT SHOP.

Miss McKoin Weds Dr. Millard Bushong

Wedding At First Baptist Church Takes Place On The Twelfth Day Of June

Claiming prominence among the many interesting nuptial events of June was the marriage of Miss Enid Dean McKoin, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. B. M. McKoin of this city, and Dr. Millard Kessler Bushong, of Richmond, Va., son of Mrs. Frank Lee Bushong of Charlestown, W. Va., on the twelfth of June at the First Baptist Church with the pastor, Rev. L. T. Hastings, officiating. The hour of the wedding, six-thirty o'clock in the evening, found the generous environs of the church crowded to capacity with relatives and friends, many of whom were from out-of-the-city.

The organist, Miss Genevieve White of Mer Rouge, La., rendered a brilliant nuptial concert and accompanied the soloist Mr. James C. Rolfe, who sang "Because" and "Through The Years." While the candles were being lighted by the bride's nephews, Bunnie, Jay and Joe Cummins, the organist gave an impressive rendition of Claire DeLune.

Magnolias, closely associated with summertime in the south, were grouped in artistic manner on the altar and in the background against graceful lengths of southern smilax. Southern smilax studded with magnolias, entwined the chancel rail and the tall floor candelabra supporting myriad cathedral tapers.

The maid of honor, Miss Elizabeth Forman, wore a summery gown of blue marquisette, very full as to skirt and with tight fitting bodice with short puffed sleeves. She carried a colonial bouquet of pastel tinted daisies.

A beautiful symphony of color was created by the rainbow colored marquisette gowns worn by the bridesmaids, Mrs. J. W. Cummins, Miss Ruby Mae Winham, Mrs. A. B. Cone, Mrs. J. B. Swanson and Mrs. T. H. Woods. The colors were in shades of pink, aqua, green, lavender and rose. The gowns were all fashioned alike with full, floor length skirts and tight fitting bodices with short puffed sleeves. They carried colonial bouquets of daisies painted in harmonizing colors.

The flower girls, Linda Lee Woods and Constance Keller, wore pastel colored marquisette frocks and carried baskets of Shasta daisies in the pastel colors.

The ring-bearer, Jimmy Woods, carried the ring on a white satin cushion.

The groomsmen were Mr. Bane Adkinson, Mr. Larry Park, Mr. J. B. Swanson, Jr., and Dr. J. W. Cummins and Mr. T. H. Woods. Dr. Bushong was attended by Mr. F. L. Bushong.

Miss McKoin was a summer bride in every sense of the word. Her gown of white marquisette and embroidered Swiss organza was fashioned along diaphanous line drifting in cloud-like effect into a billowing train. The gown was demurely detailed with long sleeves pointed at the wrist.

The bride's veil of illusion was caught to a cap of lace from her mother's wedding gown. It was of finger-tip length. She carried an arm bouquet of white gladioli, orchids and valley lilies. Dr. McKoin walked down the aisle with his daughter and gave her in marriage. For sentimental reasons the bride carried the rosepoint lace handkerchief carried by generations of brides in the McKoin family. She wore the bridegroom's wedding gift, an exquisite necklace of sapphires and pearls.

The reception following the ceremony took place at the McKoin home. The wedding party stood in the reception suite with magnolias, myriads of them, forming a charming background. Mrs. McKoin received the guests in a pastel pink crepe model with corsage of orchids. Mrs. Bushong, the bridegroom's mother, wore a green crepe model with orchid corsage.

The beauty of the gardens, radiant with moonlight, attracted the guests out-of-doors where the bride's table, overlaid with lace cloth, was placed near an arbor of roses. The cake, a three-tiered confection fluted around with point lace, was cut by the bride and groom before departing on their honeymoon. A graceful gesture on the part of the bride was the tossing of her bouquet. It was caught by Miss Ruby Mae Winham.

Frosted frappe and individual wedding cakes were served throughout the receiving hours.

Honeymoon In Mountains
The bride changed her wedding gown for a beautiful tulle of navy blue faille with scarlet accessories and left with Dr. Bushong for a honeymoon in the Great Smokies. Later they will be at home at 1009 Foxcroft Road, Richmond, Va.

The bride is a graduate of Neville High School and received her A. B. degree from Agnes Scott College, Decatur, Georgia. She was a member of the Delta Beta Sigma sorority while in high school. She was a member of the Student Government Association at Agnes Scott for four years, being class representative for her first two years and an officer of the organization for her last two years. In her senior years she was house president of the freshman dormitory and held other honors including being elected to mortar board. Following her graduation from college, she taught English at Neville High School for several years and became active in the American Association of University Women and Junior League work in Monroe. More recently, for the past few years, she has been employed by Pan American Airways, Inc., in New York City.

Dr. Bushong is a graduate of the Charles Town High School at Charles Town, West Virginia, and holds an A. B. degree from Roanoke College, Salem, Virginia, and his A. M. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of West Virginia being only 29 years of age when he acquired his doctorate in

TRAVEL TIPS
Mrs. Mildred Swift gives these travel tips: "Remember that clothes can help make or mar a vacation. It pays to choose a travel wardrobe with great care. Choose right and you can 'travel light,' yet be well and comfortably dressed with the minimum of washing and ironing. The mainstay of a travel wardrobe usually is a suit, preferably of dark or mixed colors which will not show soil easily. For hot weather seersucker has the advantage of being cool, crease resistant, easy to wash, and needs no ironing. The new gingham in practical colors designed for 'tour suits' also are good choices. For children cotton knitwear is comfortable, easily washed and needs no ironing. Even though frills are prominent in fashions this year, they are poor choice for travel because they wrinkle badly, take extra space in luggage and need so much pressing. As for hats, usually a travel problem, choose packable hats—halo hats or flat berets. No cumbersome hat boxes are needed to carry these hats. Don't overload your luggage with shoes, but be sure to include one pair that are really comfortable."

Lee-Hodgkins Nuptial Event Of Interest

One of the interesting nuptial events of the month of June took place in Kilbourne, La., when Miss Buddy Jo Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto B. Lee became the bride of Mr. Clarence Granbury Hodgkins, son of Mrs. E. G. Hodgkins.

The ceremony took place at the Kilbourne Baptist Church with Rev. H. J. Kamphouse, officiating.

Nuptial music was presented by Miss Dee Hamilton, pianist, and Mrs. C. E. Major, soloist.

The bride given in marriage by her father wore a gown of ivory satin with cathedral train. Her veil of illusion fell from a coronet of feathered carnations. She wore the strand of pearls given to her by her mother. She carried a bouquet of white carnations.

The bride's matron of honor, Mrs. C. E. Manning, wore a gown of pink mousseline over taffeta. Her bouquet was of maline and sweetheart roses with blue satin streamers.

Earl Eugene Hodgkins was his brother's best man. The groomsmen were Mr. Cherie Major and Mr. Victor Sterling Hodgkins.

A reception was held at the Lee home after the ceremony.

During the summer, Mr. and Mrs. Hodgkins will be in Baton Rouge, La., where Mr. Hodgkins will continue his studies at the L. S. U.

Arriving in town over the weekend will be Mr. A. D. Foreman, III, of Amarillo, Texas, whose marriage to Miss Joyce Litton of this city will be solemnized Thursday evening, June 24 at seven-thirty o'clock in the First Baptist Church.

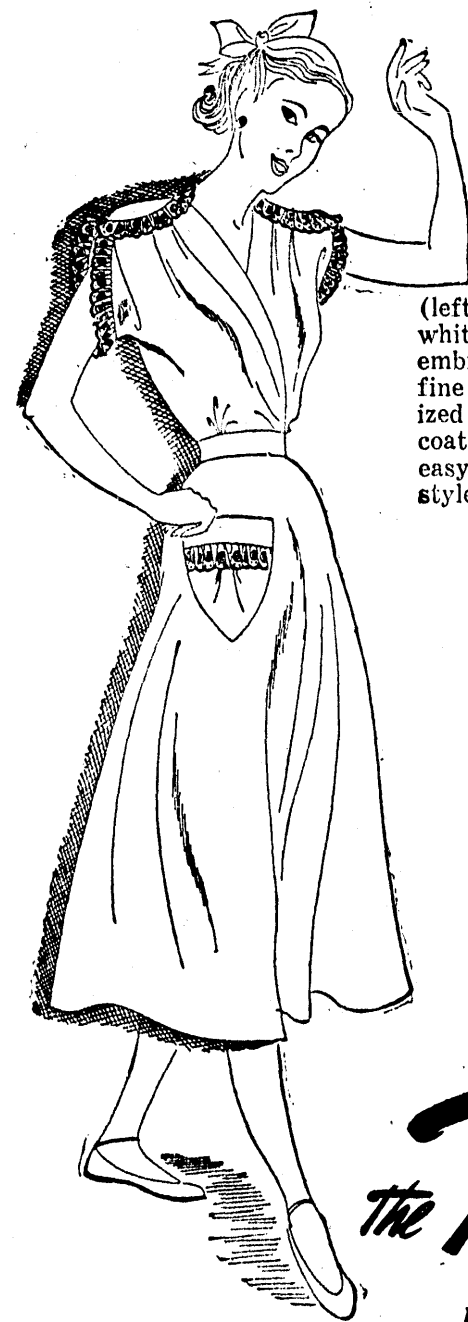

Mr. Foreman will be a guest at the Virginia Hotel.

MR. AND MRS. LANDERS, JR.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Landers, Jr., before leaving for their honeymoon on the Gulf coast, cut their wedding cake following their recent wedding.

MRS. W. R. LAWRENCE IS NAMED STATE PRESIDENT OF CHILDREN'S SOCIETY OF AMERICAN REVOLUTION

The Lieutenant Joseph Bowmar Society, Children of the American Revolution, celebrated Flag Day, June 15, at the American Legion Home.

After the processional of officers, the meeting was called to order by Miss Nancy Johnson, junior president. The invocation was given by Miss Diana Noel. Grisham Lewis and Neal Reynolds advanced and placed the National and the C A R flags and led the Pledge of Allegiance.

During the short business session, Mrs. W. R. H. Lawrence, senior president, called special attention to the beautiful C. A. R. flag, which was hand-printed by Mrs. Jase Johnson and her two daughters, Miss Nancy Johnson and Miss Sara Sue Johnson. Mrs. Lawrence has been signally honored and is now the state president of the Children of the American Revolution. She resigned as senior president of the Lieutenant Joseph Bowmar Society, and acting in her official capacity as state president, appointed Mrs. J. C. Liner, president of the local society.

While Regent of Fort Miro Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, last year, Mrs. Liner conceived the idea of having a Children of American Revolution Society organized in Monroe. With the help of Mrs. E. G. Calvert, Mrs. Jase Johnson, and Mrs. O. N. Reynolds, she worked with Mrs. Lawrence to make the Lieutenant Joseph Bowmar Society not only one of the largest societies in the country, but one of the most outstanding. It is fitting and proper that the society will go forward under her capable leadership.

The program of the day was as follows: March and song by groups 1 and 2; Building the American flag—group III with Miss Mary Elizabeth Webster soloists; Mary Emma Wilson and Suzanne Kellogg, who read poems, Mr. George Snellings, III who read a story, and Miss Peggy Pierce who led the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag group IV presented a playlet, "The Stars and Stripes" with the following cast: Colonel, Neal Reynolds; Captain, Tommy Johnson; John, Grisham Lewis; Jennie, Geney Wilson; Mistress Tilden, Catherine Noel; Prompter and sound effects by Miss Diana Noel.

The Lieutenant Joseph Bowmar Society was particularly happy to welcome the following new members: Patricia Ann Austin, Susan Fles Austin, Lynda Jane Eby, Hiram Austin Miller, Richard White Rowe, Roberta Ruth Rowe, Joseph Arthur Smith, III, Terri Sue Tidwell, Anna Gretchen Williams, Patricia Marie Williams, Mary Elizabeth Webster.

During the refreshment hour, at which time Mrs. Liner, Mrs. Calvert, and Mrs. Reynolds served iced drinks and sweets, the summer project, the need of children's records at Charity Hospital, was discussed. Each councilor will be responsible for the collection of records or donations for records for her group. Mrs. Lawrence received congratulations and expressions of appreciation on the wonderful work she has done in organizing the Lieutenant Joseph Bowmar Society. Members also expressed pleasure that she will bring additional honor to the local society as state president of the Children of the American Revolution.

Spotlight Of Social Attention Now Focused On Beautiful June Weddings

Miss Roberta Steele Is Beautiful Bride

One Of The Season's Prominent Nuptials Takes Place At Grace Episcopal Church

A typical June bride and one who observed all the traditions was Miss Roberta Steele, lovely blonde daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis N. Steele who walked to the altar to the strains of Lohengrin on June the tenth to wed Mr. John R. Eunson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph R. Eunson of Sterlington, La.

The ceremony, an impressive one, took place at Grace Episcopal church with the rector Dr. E. F. Hayward officiating at four-thirty o'clock in the afternoon. The sun, reflected through the stained glass windows accentuated the beauty of the flowers, gorgeous white peonies, overflowing from white wrought-iron receptacles, entwined with English ivy. The chancel rail was entwined with ivy studded with white peonies and in the background a solid mass of peonies with cathedral candles burning in their midst, created an idyllic setting for the ceremony. While the guests were being seated by the ushers, Messrs William P. Riley Jr., Wayne Jones, Bob Hardin, Robert Pipes, Jams A. Noe Jr., and Robert Carter, the organist, Mr. Lov- erty Jefferson rendered a brilliant concert of nuptial music. He also accompanied the soloist, Miss Camille Hancock who sang in beautiful voice, "At Dawning" and "O Promise Me." During the benediction when the bride and groom knelt on a white satin prie-dieu, Mr. Jefferson played "The Lord's Prayer."

Miss Betty Roddey, maid of honor walked down the white carpeted aisle in a diaphanous pale blue chiffon model. The bodice was fashioned with an off-the-shoulder bertha. The skirt, floor length and extremely full, had inserts of Peacock blue chiffon down the back and ended in a short train. She carried an arm bouquet of American Beauty roses.

The bridesmaids, Miss Anita Lennon, Miss Martha Roddey, Mrs. W. A. Chapman, Mrs. Robert Carter and Mrs. Bruce Gregg wore gowns of Peacock blue chiffon fashioned similarly to that of the maid of honor. They all carried arm bouquets of American Beauty roses.

Polly McDuffie, the flower girl was also gowned in Peacock blue chiffon. She wore an American Beauty rose in her hair and carried a miniature arm bouquet of roses. All the bride's attendants were gifts from the bride, a strand of pearls.

Mr. Fensky Terzia, Jr., served as best man.

A regal wedding gown, a Juliette Galtion original, was worn by the bride who walked down the white carpeted aisle with her father who gave her in marriage.

The gown of traditional elegance was fashioned of ivory slipper satin over a hoop reminiscent of the Colonial era. The bodice was slightly gathered at either side and the neckline was square cut. The sleeves were long and tight fitting.

Belgium Lace Veil The skirt was caught up on either side showing a petticoat of lace ruffles. A beautiful veil of Belgium lace falling beyond the long court train was caught the bride's beautiful blonde hair with a small cap of lace and pearls. A white prayer book showered with white roses and valley lilies was carried.

Brilliant Reception The reception in the ball room of the Virginia hotel attracted throngs of guests. The wedding party stood at the entrance to the ball room against a background of Marconi daisies. . . . myriads of them overflowing from tall floor standards.

Mrs. Steele, the bride's mother wore a beautiful pale blue chiffon model with violet colored shoulder length gloves and a flattering violet colored hat. Her corsage was of orchids.

Mrs. Eunson, the bridegroom's mother wore aqua chiffon with white shoulder length gloves and a small white hat. Her corsage was of valley lilies.

Mrs. W. C. Steele, the bride's grandmother, also in the receiving line, wore a dusty rose crepe model with Peacock blue hat and gloves and corsage of orchids.

The cutting of the wedding cake was a charming ceremony. It centered the lace covered bride's table placed at one end of the ball room, against a background of Marconi daisies. The cake was placed on an oval silver rimmed reflector and was garlanded with roses and valley lilies. At either end white candles burned in Colonial silver candelabra.

Feathery fern fronds encircled the table and fell gracefully to the floor. The bride cut her wedding cake with the heirloom silver cake knife that was used by her great aunt on her wedding day and generations of brides since then.

Mrs. Charles C. North, the bride's aunt, presided over the punch bowl. She wore a black and rose colored crepe model with gold accessories. Several of the bride's intimate friends, Misses Annarie McDuffie, Ann Crandall, Joann McDuffie, Mary Jean Hollis and Pat Finley, assisted in serving the individual wedding cakes.

The bride changed her wedding gown for a lovely azure blue silk faille model with navy blue accessories and left with Mr. Eunson for a honeymoon on the Gulf coast.

The bride, one of the most charming members of the younger set, is a graduate of the Neville High School and attended the Louisiana State University. She is a member of Delta Delta Delta special sorority and Delta Beta Sigma High School sorority.

Mr. Eunson is a graduate of the Ouachita Parish High School and is now attending the Louisiana State. Both he and his bride will be members of next year's graduating class and will reside in Baton Rouge.

Beta Delta's national convention will be held next week in Little Rock, Ark. Those who will attend from the "Chi" chapter are the outgoing president, Miss Peggy Frantom, the new vice-president, Miss Jo Ann Roberts and Miss Doris Nell Gunther. One of the pledges, Miss Frances Ritter will also attend. These girls will be chaperoned by the new sorority mother, Mrs. R. L. Frantom. ## Girault-Garrett Nuptials Of Interest

Wedding At Grace Church And The Reception Following Is Prominent Event Of June

Wearing a regal wedding gown of shimmering satin, pale ivory in color, Miss Dorothea Claire Girault, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Shepard Girault, became the bride of Mr. David I. Garrett, Jr., son of Judge and Mrs. D. I. Garrett in an impressive ceremony at Grace Episcopal Church, June 12, at 1:30 o'clock in the evening with the rector, Dr. E. F. Hayward, officiating.

Magnolias, associated with the month of June and with southern brides since time immemorial, were massed against the chancel rail and arranged in artistic clusters against a background of shining green leaves in the rear of the altar. Cathedral tapers, lighted by the altar boys in crisp black and white vestments, burned in tall floor candelabra of graduated lengths. Tier upon tier of flaming candles were silhouetted effectively against the green magnolia leaves.

"The Lord's Prayer" was sung impressively by Miss Polly Jean Phelps. She was accompanied by Mr. Lowery Jefferson, organist. During the ceremony Miss Phelps sang "O Perfect Love."

The white carpet was rolled down the aisle by the ushers, Mr. James Frazier and Mr. R. C. Limerick, Jr., at the nuptial hour.

The groomsmen were Messrs. Nelson Abell, Jr., George Simon, Jr., of Baton Rouge, Charles Boys, of Jonesville, La., O. B. Frazier, Herbert Land, Jr., and Louis Milner, Jr.

Mr. Flood Garrett served his brother as best man.

The bride's sister, Miss Arden Girault served as maid of honor.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. R. L. Limerick, Jr., of Little Rock, another sister of the bride, and Mrs. Robert Oliver, Mrs. O. B. Frazier, Miss Barbara Faulk, Miss Mary Moss Madison, Mrs. Charles Burden, of Alexandria, La.

They all wore summery frocks of white marquisette, very bouffant as to skirt. The tight-fitting bodices were fashioned with a deep bertha of self material. Their halo hats of tuckered white marquisette were most flattering.

All the attendants carried magnolia blossoms against a fan-shaped arrangement of shining green leaves, tied with long lengths of ribbon. The groomsmen wore white tuxedos de rigueur of southern summertime weddings.

Bride Wears Satin The bride, given in marriage by her father, was the typical southern bride of June in her romantic, ingenu- gowned of ivory satin fraught with the sentiment of heirloom rose point lace. The bodice was beautifully mother, Mrs. E. S. Girault, wore a lovely beige chiffon model with lace bodice. Her corsage was three green orchids worn high on the shoulder. Mrs. Garrett, the bridegroom's mother wore a flesh-colored evening model with skirt adroitly draped at one side. She wore an orchid corsage and in her hair she wore a garland of pale pink flowers.

The guests were intrigued with the wedding cake placed in the center of the lace-covered table. It was an artistic three-tiered confection surmounted with a crystalized urn filled with fresh valley lilies. On either side of the cake were placed antique silver wine coolers filled with white gladioli and stephanotis.

The bride and groom cut their wedding cake with an antique silver knife used by generations of brides. Fed fruit punch was served continuously during the receiving hours. Individual cakes on silver trays were also passed among the guests by white coated attendants.

The bride changed her wedding gown for a smart tulle of navy blue with navy straw hat and other accessories of navy. Her blouse was of crisp white eyelet. She left with the bridegroom for a honeymoon and when they return they will be at home in this city where Mr. Garrett will practice law with the firm of Madison and Madison. He is a graduate of the Louisiana State University with an L.L.B. degree. He is a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity. The bride is a graduate of Neville High School and the Louisiana State University. She is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority.

MISS STRAUSS WEDS MR. GARON IN IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY WITH RABBI F. K. HIRSCH OFFICIATING

Claiming interest among the many nuptial events of the season was the wedding which took place on the beautifully decorated roof of the Virginia Hotel when Miss Margot Strauss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jakob Strauss, was united in double-ring ceremony to Mr. Herbert Garon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Goldstein, of New Orleans. The impressive ceremony was conducted by Rabbi Hirsch of Temple B'Nai Israel.

Beautiful floral arrangements were placed in front of the mantel piece flanked by white floor candelabra. Beethoven's "Moonlight Sonata," "Shubert's Serenade," and Chopin's "Nocturne" was played by the bride's aunt, Miss Clare Freiberg. The bride's favorite songs, "Because" and "At Dawning," were beautifully rendered by her sorority sister, Miss Marilyn Pasternack, of New York. Wagner's "Bridal March" announced the entrance of the wedding party and the first guest to be seated was the eighty-year-old grandmother of the bride, Mrs. Rose Freiberg, in a gown of blue chiffon with corsage of white carnations.

The bride's mother wore a lovely model of aqua chiffon with corsage of pink carnations and the bridegroom's mother wore a pastel blue, floor-length model with bodice embroidered in crystal beads.

The two youthful maids of honor, Misses Peggy and Jean Strauss, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Strauss, wore pale pink gowns of organza fashioned with wide, bouffant skirts with bustle back. They wore pink halo hats and carried arm bouquets of pink roses with a cascade of pink sweetheart roses.

The bridesmaids, Miss Ida Sophie Davidson and Miss Jean Pickens, wore azure blue chiffon models over multi-colored satin slips. They carried arm bouquets of multi-colored flowers.

The flower girl, Brigit Cymbal, wore a pink organza frock and carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses.

The ushers were Mr. Ernest Strauss and Dr. Alvin Wexler, of New Orleans. Mr. Helmut Strauss, the bride's brother served as best man.

Mrs. Fred Strauss, the bride's aunt, in exquisite blue lace and chiffon model served as matron of honor. Her arm bouquet of pink roses and Sweetheart roses was tied with blue satin ribbon.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore the traditional gown of ivory satin, a masterpiece of elegance with its fitted bodice, drop shoulders, and long sleeves pointed to the wrist. The full skirt ended in a long graceful train and the imported fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a coronet of tulle and stephanotis. The only jewelry worn was a gorgeous string of pearls, a wedding present from the groom. Her bouquet was of white roses, stephanotis and orchids tied with wide loops of white ribbon.

The reception was attended by more than 300 people and refreshing punch,

DRAMATIC HISTORY OF OUR FLAG REVEALED IN PAPER PREPARED BY MRS. SLATER FOR D. A. R.

Mrs. Lewis Slater delved deep into American history when she looked for information concerning our country's flag for the paper she prepared for members of the Fort Miro Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution.

Mrs. Slater read this paper at the last meeting of the year at the chapter house. It follows in part:

"Heraldry is as old as the human race, and the carrying of banners has been the habit of nations since the beginning of time.

Far back in American history, the Vikings carried a flag which bore a black raven on a field of white.

Then in 1492 Columbus sailed to our shores and his three small ships displayed the Spanish flag, bearing two red lions on two white fields and two yellow castles on two red fields.

The Dutch brought their own striped flags when they settled in New Amsterdam, which we now call New York. Back in the days of the revolution there were colonial or regimental flags by the score, and scores of others disappeared soon after the Stars and Stripes was adopted, yet the insignia shown on some of them was retained in some cases and now appears occasionally on state flags.

The story of the origin of our national flag parallels the story of the origin of our country. As our country received its birthright from the peoples of many lands who gathered on these shores to found a new nation, so did the pattern of the Stars and Stripes rise from several origins back in the mists of antiquity to become emblazoned on the standards of our infant republic.

The star is a symbol of the heavens and the divine goal to which man has aspired from time immemorial, and the stripe is symbolic of the rays of light emanating from the sun. Both themes have long been represented on the standards of nations, from the banners of the astral worshippers of ancient Egypt and Babylon to the 12-starred flag of the Spanish Conquistadors under Cortez. Continuing in favor or they spread to the striped standards of Holland and the East India Company in the 18th century and to the present patterns of stars and stripes on the flags of several nations of Europe, Asia, and the Americas.

The first flags adopted by our colonial forefathers were symbolic of their struggle with the wilderness of a new land. Anchors, beavers, pine trees, rattlesnakes and various like insignia with mottoes such as "Hope," "Liberty," "Appeal to Heaven," or "Don't Tread on Me," were affixed to the different banners of Colonial America.

Many Americans still believe that Betsy Ross made the first flag, although historians still dispute this story. It is recorded that the first Stars and Stripes displayed in the face of an armed enemy was at Fort Stanwix, August 3, 1777. The flag was improvised. The white stripes and stars came from the soldiers' shirts; a captain's cloak supplied the blue of the union; and the red stripes came from the flannel petticoats of the women of the garrison, who gladly donated them for the purpose.

Continental Congress passed a resolution which established the Stars and Stripes on June 14, 1777, but did not specify the arrangement of the thirteen stars on the blue union, except to say that they should represent a new constellation. As a consequence we find a variety of forms. The first army flag, popularly known as the Betsy Ross flag, had them arranged in a circle, based on the idea that no colony should take precedence.

"We celebrate the day of its birth; and from its birth until now it has witnessed a great history, has floated on high the symbol of great events, or a great plan of life worked out by a great people."

"Woe to the man or group of men, that seek to stand in our way in this day of high resolution, when every principle we hold dearest is to be vindicated and made secure for the salvation of the nation. We are ready to plead at the bar of history, and our flag shall wear a new luster. Once more we shall make good with our lives and fortunes the great faith to which we were born, and a new glory shall shine in the face of our people."

Thus the Stars and Stripes came into being; born amid the strife of battle it became the standard around which a free people struggled to found a great nation. Its spirit is fervently expressed in the words of Thomas Jefferson:

"I swear, before the altar of God, eternal hostility to every form of tyranny over the mind of man."

Our Flag is the banner not of conquerors but of a people adventurous in brotherhood. It is the flag of a free people; its folds are lifted only on the wind of their will. And its staff can be implanted on new heights only by the combined devoted strength of all our hands.

"I am Old Glory: For more than eight score years I have been the banner of hope and freedom for generation after generation of Americans. Born amid the first flames of America's fight for freedom, I am the symbol of a country that has grown from a little group of thirteen colonies to a united nation of forty-eight sovereign states. Planted firmly on the high pinnacle of American Faith my gently fluttering folds have proved an inspiration to untold millions. Men have followed me into battle with unwavering courage. They have looked upon me as a symbol of national unity. They have prayed that they and their fellow citizens might continue to enjoy the life, liberty and pursuit of happiness, which have been granted to every American as the heritage of free men. So long as men love liberty more than life itself; so long as they treasure the priceless privileges bought with the blood of our forefathers; so long as the principles of truth, justice and charity for all remain deeply rooted in human hearts, I shall continue to be the enduring banner of the United States of America.

I AM OLD GLORY!"

Purely Personal

Now that the majority of June brides are off on their honeymoons with their newly acquired husbands, life is getting back to normal. Never in the history of Monroe has society witnessed such a flurry of prenuptial affairs. Like whirling dervishes the brides-to-be went from one affair to another. Three and four events, each day, necessitated a complete change of costume and as a result these June brides wore some of the most attractive clothes seen in many a day. We especially admired a bright green silk suit worn on several occasions by Cleta Godfrey, last week's bride. The cotton models worn by this attractive blonde were also admired and in particular the white costumes as they accentuated her becoming summer tan.

One of the glamorous frocks in Dorothea Girault's trousseau was a white chiffon evening model. A dress that lives up to your dream of what an evening gown should be. The full, swirling cloud-like skirt was appliqued with leaf green flowers. A green flower was also applied in the bodice. Miss Girault's play-zuits were adorable. . . most of them had little capes or boleros and with them she wore accessories of vivid colors.

The frosty cotton frocks worn by all the June brides had glamour of more elaborate fabrics. In these cotton frocks they looked as cool as peppermint.

Travelers. Ho! What a life. Just step in your auto and head for the wide open spaces. Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Faulk and their granddaughter, Miss Gene Flournoy, Miss Mary Grace Lawn and Mrs. Dorothy Moore are off on an auto tour of all the national parks. They headed west last week in the early morning hours with Lake Louise their main objective. No time limit has been agreed upon and that means weeks of touring the beauty spots of the west.

While many Monroe vacationists look forward to hours of ease in a cooler climate others are returning home daily. Mr. and Mrs. Travis Oliver returned last week from a six week's cruise on board the Delta Line cruise ship, Del Sud. They touched such interesting, far-away ports as St. Thomas, Virgin Islands; Rio de Janeiro, and Santos, Brazil; Montevideo, Uruguay; and Buenos Aires, Argentina. It was necessary for them to take clothing for a complete change in temperature in Buenos Aires where winter weather prevails at this time. The temperature was down to 32 degrees but perfectly delightful as the air was crisp and bracing. Mr. and Mrs. Oliver were guests at the Crillon Hotel and for one week visited the

Miss Butler Is The Bride Of Dwight MacCurdy

Claiming the interest of many friends is the marriage of Miss Addie Butler of Winnsboro, La., daughter of Mrs. H. R. Butler to Mr. Dwight MacCurdy, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. MacCurdy, of Lake Charles, which was solemnized Saturday evening at 8:30 o'clock at the First Baptist Church, with pastor, Rev. C. B. Hall officiating.

The altar was banked with palms and ferns forming the back ground for beautiful arrangements of white gladiolas and ferns, interspersed with branched candelabra holding tall white tapers. The pianist, Miss Elizabeth Landis of Winnsboro, attired in a beautiful white model of chiffon rendered a concert. Mr. James Mays of Winnsboro was soloist. He sang "Because" and Grieg's "I Love Thee," and Miss Landis played "Sweetest Story Ever Told," "Old Refrain," and Liebestraum, followed by the traditional wedding march. Serving as ushers were Mrs. Hollis Gamble and Mr. Lallie Doughty of New Orleans, close friends of the groom.

The candles were lighted by the lovely young daughters of Mr. and Mrs. James Kiper, Lissa Linda and Pamela Ruth, who were dressed in floor length models of pink and blue satin.

Mrs. Elmer Butler of Shreveport attended the bride as matron of honor. She wore a pastel green French organdy gown, and carried an old fashioned bouquet of white daisies with green satin streamers.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Elmer Butler, wore a gown of nylon marquisette, fashioned along princess lines with full skirt, extending into a short train, which was trimmed with lace medallions matching the lace bertha on her bodice.

Her veil of bridal illusion was fastened to a coronet of old lace and tulle. She wore an antique brooch, an heirloom of her mother's. Her bouquet was of white carnations and valley lilies.

The bride groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Joe MacCurdy.

Mrs. Butler, the bride's mother, was dressed in aqua crepe with a shoulder corsage of pink carnations. Mrs. MacCurdy wore a white ensemble of faille, and her flowers were pink carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony, Mrs. Butler entertained with a reception in her home. The guests included the wedding party, close friends and out-of-town guests.

The bride's table was covered with a Madeira cut-work cloth and centered by a three-tiered wedding cake. The bride placed her bouquet on a reflector.

After the traditional cutting of the wedding cake by the bride and groom it was served by Mrs. E. S. Little, aunt of the bride. Mrs. Ben Coulter presided over the punch bowl filled with frosted lime sherbet.

Assisting in extending courtesies were Misses Charlotte and Joan MacCurdy, sisters of the groom and other friends of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. MacCurdy are honeymooning in Mexico City. The bride wore for traveling a rose and black crepe ensemble with black accessories. They will return to make their home in New Orleans, where Mr. MacCurdy will continue his study in dentistry.

many places of interest near this beautiful city.

While in Rio de Janeiro they visited Vero Preto the old eighteenth century town where the most beautiful cathedrals in all of Brazil are found. The gold and silver used in one church is estimated over two billion dollars. At Petropolis they were guests at the famous Quitandinha Hotel, the largest in the world. They visited the emperor's summer palace, where they were asked to put scuffs over their shoes to prevent marring the floors, so beautiful and so costly are they.

The huge statue of Christ on the mountain side at Cora Covada, is something every visitor looks for and watches at sunset when the lights illuminate the figure.

When their ship arrived at St. Thomas, Virgin Islands, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver were met at the dock by an old friend, Colonel John H. Jovett, U. S. A. former commandant of Fort Crockett air base and later instructor to Chinese air force. Mr. and Mrs. Oliver were entertained by Colonel and Mrs. Jovett in their mountain-top home and were also taken on a tour of the island visiting the famous Bluebeard's Castle.

Life on ship board was very much a part of the six weeks' cruise according to Mrs. Oliver. Dancing under the stars at night, swimming in the mammoth pool in the morning, reclining in the comfortable chairs on the wide decks and in the meantime enjoying the entertainment furnished for every minute of the day kept the passengers amused throughout the voyage. Crossing the equator was something Americans never forget as a special kind of ritual is observed. "Father Neptune" is master of ceremonies.

Miss St. Claire Hayden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Hayden, of Shreveport, formerly of this city, was in Monroe last week, visiting her aunt, Mrs. George Gunby, and Mr. Gunby. She was on route to Montreal, Canada, where she will spend the summer at McGill University specializing in French. At this university English is never spoken . . . all conversation is carried on in French. This is quite important to Miss Hayden who is majoring in French at Sweet Briar College. She is expecting to spend her junior year in France for the purpose of continuing her study of French.

There is no lovelier way to perpetuate the memory of departed friends and loved ones than to place a book in the library as a memorial to them. A book is a lasting memorial and is one that will be enjoyed by many people, over a period of years.

In Monroe and West Monroe there are a number of groups and individuals, who make a practice of placing books in one of the branches of the Ouachita Parish Public Library. The Ouachita Parish Medical Auxiliary gives a book in memory of each one of their members and in memory of each physician, who passes on. Miss Emma Louise Biedenharn makes a practice of giving books connected with some phase of gardening as her memorials. The library has acquired many lovely garden books in this way. Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Biedenharn, Mr. and Mrs. George Weaker, Mr. and Mrs. Guy P. Stubbs, Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Kilpatrick, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Riggins, Dr. and Mrs. C. P. Gray, Mrs. Douglas Miles, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Lee Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Oliver are some of the people who consistently give books to the library as memorials.

The procedure is very simple. If you wish to remember a departed friend in this manner, just call the library and Miss Flanders will be glad to assist you in the selection of your book.

The Gunby ancestral home on Jackson street will be the scene of a family reunion this week when Col. Thomas Gunby and Mrs. Gunby arrive from Chinhae, Korea, for a visit with their sisters, Misses Edith and Olive Gunby. They will also divide their time with their brother, Mr. George Gunby, and Mrs. Gunby. Colonel and Mrs. Gunby will be joined by their daughter, Mrs. Harold C. Kinne, Jr., who is arriving this week from Providence, R. I., to visit in the Gunby home. Colonel Gunby will not return to Korea. He expects to be stationed at Duquesne University in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Miss Pat Shaughnessy is visiting her sister, Mrs. Elizabeth McCleery in Hattiesburg, Miss.

WADDILL-RANSOM WEDDING IN BATON ROUGE ATTRACTS MANY FRIENDS FROM TWIN CITIES

A wedding in Baton Rouge claiming the interest of friends in this city where the bridegroom was born and reared and will make their home in the future, was that of Miss Adele Dawn Waddill, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Paul Waddill of Baton Rouge and Mr. Paul Standley Ransom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Ransom of this city. The ceremony took place June 12 at the First Presbyterian Church with the pastor, Rev. Parks Wilson, officiating.

The marriage is one of the most prominent weddings of this season, and it drew a large number of society members to the church. The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Paul Waddill of Baton Rouge, who recently returned here after residing for some time in New Orleans. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Clark Ransom. The wedding was marked with distinctive detail, with the pale maize gowns of the bride's attendants affording an effective and beautiful foil for the candlelight satin of the dress worn by the bride. A soft net yoke and shoulder collar of Valencia lace featured the fitted bodice of the bride's lovely gown. The haque waist was accented with long fitted sleeves ending in points at the wrists, and the fingertip veil of candlelight net was worn with a poke bonnet of seed pearls with orange blossoms at either side.

Her bouquet was of valley lilies and stephanotis. She carried for sentimental sake the wedding handkerchief that had been carried by her grandmother in her own wedding.

A group of six attractive young women preceded the bride to the altar. Maid of honor was the bride's sister, Miss Betty Waddill, and the bridesmaids included Miss Betty Ogilvie of Coushatta, Miss Jo Ann Ransom of Monroe, Miss June Griffin of Monroe, Miss Patsy Schoen of New Orleans, and Miss Carol Kramer of New Orleans.

The attendants all wore gowns of pale maize, with shoulder ruffles and tails that were accented with ruffles at the bottom coming up to form a bustle effect in the back. A wreath of lavender shasta daisies was carried by the maid of honor, who wore in her hair a matching wreath. The bridesmaids carried similar wreaths of shasta daisies and wore matching flowers in their hair.

Best man for the groom was Mr. Ben Marshall of Monroe. The groomsmen included Mr. Maurice Phillips of Monroe, Mr. Sam Rubin of Monroe, Mr. Ronald Black of New Orleans, Mr. C. R. Tidwell, Jr., of Monroe, and Mr. Harold B. McSweeney of Alexandria.

Mr. Gunvard Hansen was organist for the ceremony and played "Cradle Song." Vocal soloist was Miss Camille Hancock of Monroe, who sang "Because" and "I Love Thee."

It was at the Woman's clubhouse that friends of the bridal couple extended good wishes at the reception following the wedding. Standing with the bride at the reception line, the bride's mother wore a pink lace dress with matching pink lace gloves, and the groom's mother was in aqua, with long pink gloves.

A lace cloth trimmed with white satin ribbon covered the beautifully appointed bride's table. On it was the four-tiered wedding cake, surrounded with white satin ribbons.

Mrs. Floyd W. Spencer and Mrs. A. P. Miller served the punch to guests. Tea girls were Miss Janice Keller and Miss Ann Boyett.

After the reception the bridal couple left for a wedding trip. For traveling the bride wore a navy blue taffeta suit, with ballroom skirt and fitted coat with touches of pink.

The bride and groom both received B. S. degrees from the university this month. The bride is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority, and the groom is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

The first successful dirigible was built in 1852; a three horse power steam engine moved it along at six miles per hour.

PRENUPTIAL AFFAIRS FOR MISS LITTON WILL CLIMAX THURSDAY

The rush of prenuptial courtesies being extended Miss Joyce Litton will climax on Thursday, June 24 when she becomes the bride of Mr. A. D. Foreman, III, of Amarillo, Tex. The ceremony will take place at the First Baptist Church at 7:30 in the evening with Dr. A. D. Foreman, Jr., pastor of the First Baptist Church of Amarillo, and father of the groom, officiating. Rev. L. T. Hastings will assist Dr. Foreman.

The past week has been a busy one for Miss Litton with charming compliments of a social nature being extended daily. A luncheon Thursday at the La Casa with Mrs. J. Norman Coon, Mrs. J. E. Jarmon and Mrs. H. D. Holmes as hostesses was one of the outstanding courtesies.

The luncheon table overlaid in white damask was exquisite with pink and silver the motif seen in the flowers, place cards and gift wrappings. In the center of the table was a huge silver bowl of pink roses. Pink candles burning in low silver candlesticks adorned with fluffy pink bows flanked the centerpiece from which radiated pink ribbons and garlands of fern, running the full length of the table. The place cards were small silver-edged folders on which were wedding bells held together by a cluster of rosebuds tied with pink ribbon. Gifts from the hostesses of silver, crystal and china marked the cover reserved for the guest of honor.

Miss Litton was wearing, on this occasion, a lovely lavender printed sheer with a lavender straw sailor. A delicious three-course luncheon was served to the hostesses, Miss Litton and her mother, Mrs. H. K. Litton, and Miss Lydia Jarmon. Mrs. Shelby Meek, Miss Shelby Meek, Mrs. R. O. Ware, Miss Sally Ware, Mrs. A. L. Tatum, Miss Margaret Ann Tatum, Miss Marie Smith and Mrs. L. T. Williams, of Marietta, Ga., niece of Mrs. H. D. Holmes, one of the hostesses.

YOUTH AT WORK FOR CLAIBORNE

Caravan Will Arrive At Suburban Church On July 10

A youth caravan will arrive at the Claiborne Methodist Church July 10-18. A typical caravan consists of two young men, two young women and a counselor who have been carefully selected from recommendations received from church leaders. The young people are under 24 years of age, have completed at least two years of college. The counselor is an adult who has had experience in youth work. These young people serve in annual conferences other than their own, while the counselor works in her own conference.

The purpose of the caravan is to help revitalize and strengthen the youth program of the local church and community, and to give a clearer vision of the Christian's responsibility in every phase of life.

Mrs. M. L. DeFreese, chairman of the planning committee of the Claiborne church says: "Each member of the caravan works in all fields of youth work, but is especially trained in the specific fields of worship and evangelism, missions and world friendship, recreation, community service."

A planning committee, consisting of the Rev. F. L. Hearne, Mrs. M. L. DeFreese, Mrs. Fred Barfoot, Mrs. J. D. Fordham, Miss Marguerite Norris, Mrs. J. D. Cannon, Mrs. H. B. Ramsey, Mrs. E. C. Gaskin and Joy May have formulated plans for this caravan to serve all the youth residing in the community. In many places the caravan is a community project and young people of other denominations cooperate.

Primarily caravans serve local churches in small towns and rural sections. Who may "lead"? Members of the youth division, 12 to 23 years, and their adult workers. The entire membership of the church may be invited to attend worship services, the period of fellowship and other like activities.

Billy Fleming is president of the Methodist Youth Fellowship of Claiborne Church.

CITY PLAYGROUNDS NOW IN OPERATION

The summer program is in full swing for the Monroe recreation department, states Director Jack Hesketh. In all, including two colored playgrounds, there are seven in operation. The first week there were 1,471 children at the white playgrounds and 938 at colored playgrounds.

There are seven softball leagues and one baseball league in operation. There are 660 boys and girls playing in league competition. All softball games are played under four lighted fields. A midget baseball team for boys under 14 is operated, and this team plays in out of town competition. This week the white playgrounds will have a flower contest between all playgrounds. Next week the playgrounds will have a checker tournament and the city champion will be crowned.

for the church: "More gospel and less streamlining."
"Preachers have turned to machinery rather than the gospel," says the white-haired, white-moustached, 95-year-old man who was ordained to the Presbyterian pulpit 75 years ago.

"It's just as though a railroad would turn out the most modern of streamlined trains, and forget the engine."
By "machinery" Dr. Summey explains:

"The churches organize adults, women, children, hold meetings, engage in devices to build the church by organization rather than by spirit. I believe in organization. But I insist there must be the power of the spirit of God. More gospel and less streamlining."

Dr. Summey was known as a "boy preacher" when he became pastor of the church in Bolivar, Tenn., in 1873. He was two weeks short of 20 years old.

"I outgrew that title rapidly," he said. "And now, I think I've been ordained longer than any minister of any denomination in the United States—I know longest of any Presbyterian."

He claims to be the oldest graduate of Davidson (N. C.) College, where he took a degree in 1870 at the age of 17; oldest graduate of Union Theological Seminary in Virginia, class of 1893 and the oldest member of the Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity.

Since he took over that church in Bolivar, Dr. Summey has held many offices in the Presbyterian Church of the United States—the southern branch of the denomination.

He was moderator of the church in 1925; chancellor of Southwestern Presbyterian College at Clarksville, Tenn. (now at Memphis) 11 years; editor of the Presbyterian Quarterly, a theological review, six years; editor of the weekly Southwestern Presbyterian 13 years; professor of systematic theology at Austin (Texas) Seminary 13 years.

Between these assignments—some of which overlapped—Dr. Summey served pastorates at Covington, Ky., Chester, S. C., and Graham, N. C., as chairman of municipal boards of education in Chester and Clarksville; and on the board of education in Covington.

Dr. Summey was born in Asheville, N. C., in 1853, on June 3. He remembers the War Between the States "very vividly."

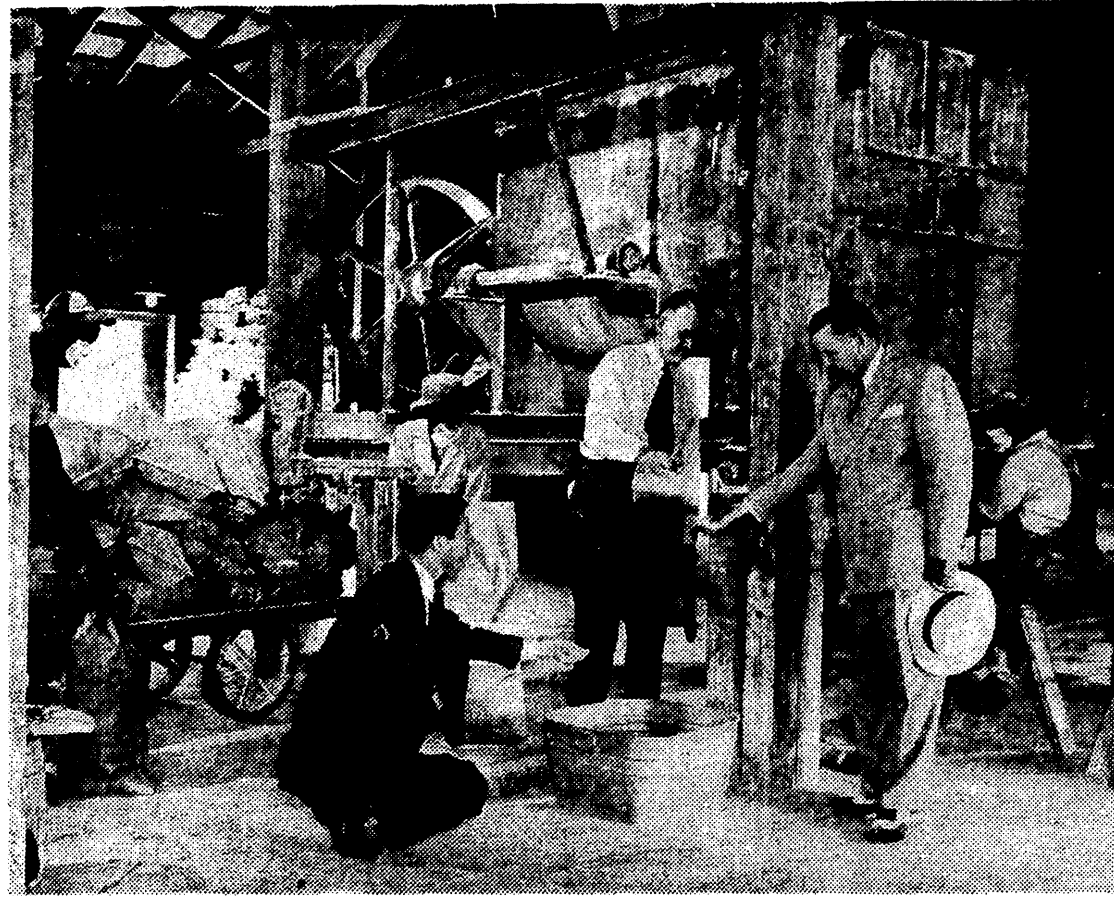

"Once there weren't enough men to move the cannon into place when there was a report of a raid. Some of us boys had to mount horses and drive the cannon from one side of town to the other."

His mother, the former Miss Rose Morrison, was a first cousin of General Stonewall Jackson. One of Dr. Summey's fondest memories is of introducing Mrs. Jackson to the 125 residents of a Confederate veterans' home in 1903, just after he came to New Orleans.

"I've never seen such emotion as those men showed," he recalls.

Dr. Summey was eight years old when the southern Presbyterians seceded from the northern branch in

NEW INDUSTRY FOR MONROE

In the photograph above A. Petrus, president of Cotton States Chemical Company, Inc., shows W. J. Riley, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce industrial committee, and Bill Crossfield, assistant secretary of the Chamber, one of the products of the new plant.

December 1861. He's "decidedly against" the proposed reunion of the two groups.

"I think our church is purer and safer theologically," he contends. "It has its own work to carry out. It can do more in separation than it can do in combination."

Dr. Summey retired eight years ago from the Austin professorship, his last full time assignment.

"I retired into active work," he explains. "I'm busier lecturing, preaching, and visiting than ever before. Every year I give a short course of three to six lectures in theology at Austin Seminary."

Alert and energetic, Dr. Summey works long hours, compiling a history of Presbyterianism in Louisiana. In his study are two desks piled high. Around the walls are shelves containing some 2,000 volumes, mostly theological works.

Dr. Summey lives with his daughter, Mrs. George Dinwiddie, widow of a late president of Tulane University. Every summer they go to her summer home in Bavaria, Mich. The preacher is still an eager traveler. Last year he went to the annual Southern Presbyterian convocation at Atlanta. The trip was a gift of his church.

He has three other surviving children—Mrs. Cleve Smith, an editor of the Memphis Press-Scimitar; Albert Summey, a railroad executive of Wilmington, N. C.; and George Summey, Jr., head of the English department at Texas A. and M. College.

As for the future, Dr. Summey says: "I am just waiting for death. But I'm waiting very busily."

FARM CHEMISTRY PLANT IS BUSY

Cotton States Chemical Co.
Is $100,000 Concern
In Monroe

A. Petrus, president of Cotton States Chemical Company, Inc., was host last week to several members of the industrial committee of the Chamber of Commerce. After looking through the newly constructed plant which presently represents an investment well over $100,000, W. J. Riley, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce industrial committee, congratulated President Petrus and thanked him on behalf of the entire community for bringing this new enterprise to Monroe.

According to Mr. Petrus, the new plant will manufacture and blend chemicals for agricultural use. The principal product being formulated in chlorinated camphene (toxaphene), an insecticide used for the elimination of all insects attacking cotton.

Also used as an insecticide on cotton are two products of the plant, benzene hexachloride and two per cent nicotine calcium arsenate mixture.

A blend of DDT used to eliminate insects from soybeans is also formulated by the Cotton States Chemical Company.

Although the plant has been in operation less than five weeks, Mr. Petrus reports that shipments are being made daily all over the south and southwest and as far west as Nebraska. The Cotton States Chemical plant is the only one of its kind in Louisiana and one of the largest in the south.

At present the plant has thirty five employees including chemists who are constantly experimenting in the company's chemical laboratory to improve the product. Mr. Petrus commented that if present plans materialize, construction will begin in the near future on a new fertilizer and feed plant.

The Cotton States Chemical Co., which is owned by the Tyner-Petrus Company, is located on "Short" 8th Street just south of the Missouri Pacific station in Monroe. Officers of the company include A. Petrus, president, Mrs. A. Petrus, vice-president, Mrs. G. E. Tyner, second vice-president and G. E. Tyner, secretary and treasurer.

WINNSBORO HOLDS VACATION SCHOOLS

WINNSBORO, La., June 19.—(Special)—The Methodist and Presbyterian Churches have been conducting vacation church schools concurrently during the past week at their respective churches. The Methodist school, which closed Friday, was termed very successful by Rev. M. S. Robertson who served as director. Miss Bessie Noble taught the course, "Jesus Our Leader" to the intermediates; Mrs. M. S. Robertson taught "Ways We Worship" to the primary; Miss Joan Cobb taught "The Methodist Church" to the juniors; and Mrs. Charles Hatfield taught the beginners.

Misses Rowena Taliaferro and Carolyn Glover conducted special recreation programs and the assembly devotional.

Visual aids for the whole school in the form of 16mm sound motion pictures portraying the work of the church and how people live in America, China, Cuba, Africa, and India were used.

The Presbyterian school, which will continue this week is directed by Mrs. O. F. McBride. Mrs. M. L. Guice is teaching the juniors; Miss Nan Riser, the primaries; and Mrs. L. T. Lazarus and Miss Ann Riser, the beginners.

CENTRAL BRANCH WILL CELEBRATE

West Monroe Bank To Reopen
Monday In New Home;
Plan Open House

The West Monroe branch of the Central Savings Bank & Trust Company is re-occupying its handsome new building at 201 Trenton street this week-end and will be ready for business there Monday morning, it was announced this week by J. S. Washburn, the bank's vice-president and trust officer. Since last March the branch has occupied a building across the street.

The new building will be open from 5 to 7 p. m. Monday for inspection by the public. Mr. Washburn said the visitation period would be extremely informal and urged the public to drop in for a visit and inspect the new building and its ultra-modern equipment and furnishings.

The building, which has been used by the bank since 1919, is now one of the most modern of its kind in the south. Mr. Washburn estimated that the improvements cost as much as $50,000. W. C. Salley was the contractor and H. T. Underwood of New Orleans was the architect.

Through renovation and rearrangement the building is now much larger than in the past. A stairway that used to lead to the second floor from the front has been moved to the side, and the length of the building has been extended ten feet to the rear. In the added space at the rear is the bank's new vault, which is the safest and most modern on the market today.

A night depository has been installed for patrons who desire to make deposits after banking hours. A huge exhaust fan above the vault circulates the air in the building. The new lights for the tellers are fluorescent tubes and the new ceiling fixtures are of direct-indirect type. The floor of the bank is of asphalt tile, and the original wooden first floor has been removed and a reinforced concrete floor has been installed.

The bank staff includes T. C. Drew, manager; Carl K. White, and Mrs. W. D. Golsen, assistant managers; Miss Billie Hamilton, teller; and Mrs. Eloise Shields, Mrs. Ora Lee Johnston, and Kenneth L. Adams, bookkeepers.

Mackenzie's Column

By James D. White
(Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst)
(For DeWitt Mackenzie)

Critical signs appeared in China this week. In the capital at Nanking, President Chiang Kai-Shek gave ground. He finally got his one-time enemy, General Pai Chung-Hsi, to take command of the central China campaign against the Communists. Pai had refused twice, and reportedly agreed only after Chiang gave him the new American-trained troops from Formosa. Pai is a fellow-provincial and long-time comrade in arms of Vice-President Li Tsung-Jen, also once Chiang's enemy.

Chiang could look forward to fresh American relief, but even this is in some ways a political liability to him. Most Chinese privately consider it too little and too late to decide the course of the civil war against the Communists.

To get it up the Yangtze river to the interior, the Nanking government is giving up its insistence that no foreign ships shall ply China's inland waters. American boats will haul these cargoes up the river to feed the people and, indirectly, the fight against the Communists. Chinese shipping interests have fought to keep any foreign boats out of such waters since the war.

Then there are the students, and millions of restive Chinese who may listen to them. A few students in Peiping this week defaced their ration cards entitling them to American relief, saying they would rather starve than accept it. Perhaps significantly, they were not arrested. Recently the government has been tough about such agitation against American relief, which the students —and the Communists—say is prolonging the civil war.

The students have another favorite gripe—that American policy is rebuilding Japan into a potential menace to China. The Chinese government finds it difficult to suppress such criticism because of its own position on that question. It says it agrees with America on the economic necessity of rebuilding Japan (short of another war potential, naturally) but disagrees on how to do it. In other words, Nanking doesn't entirely approve of America's policy, either.

This week the Communists made more military gains, except in one coal-mining region in the north. They made propaganda hay with the junction of two communist armies on the great plain north of the Yangtze. They claimed it created a front south of the Yellow river which would push Nanking's forces down across the great Yangtze rice-bowl.

Nanking worried that growing Red strength in southeast Asia—in French Indo-China, Siam, Malaya and Burma—might create a second front to the south. This would menace Premier Wong Wen-Hao's plan to build up strength in south China to fight the Communists in the north.

On the Shanghai black market China's money, the paper yuan, fell to a rate where it took 2,300,000 to buy one American dollar. Officials tried to find a way to stop the flight of capital to Shanghai from cities nearer the Communist front like Peiping and Tientsin where even the ruinous Shanghai rate looked relatively good.

In Chungking, in far-off Szechuan province where the Communists also are threatening to advance, rice rose to twice its controlled price. Thousands rioted and looted rice shops, intent on getting the staff of life lest it become impossible to buy at any price. Death was decreed for 23 rioters. If anything was done about the speculators who violated price controls, it was not reported.

Back in Nanking a legislator from Shensi said this, and got away with it: "The Communists are right—if this condition continues, economic collapse with cause dismemberment of our government long before there is danger of military defeat."

The country of Ecuador was named for the Equator because that country is crossed by the great circle of the earth.

First Of Five Periods Of One Week Each To Be Held There

Boy Scout troops of the Ouachita Valley Council will begin checking in today for an adventurous week of Scouting activities and camping at Camp Ki-Ro-Li, the council's summer camp. Scouts checking in today will be attending the first of five scheduled periods that the camp is to operate. Each period is to last one week. D. C. Harper, chairman of the property and building committee, has announced that the camp is in complete readiness for the campers, as a great amount of work has been completed for repairs and new equipment, in order to have the camp in the very best condition. The council's health and safety committee has checked the camp for sanitary conditions and given approval for the camp to open, as all health and safety standards for Scout camp operations are being met.

Council officials state that every parent may be assured that his son has the very best of care as far as health standards are concerned. A health lodge, manned by competent first-aid men, will be in operation and frequent visits will be made by a medical doctor. The health and safety committee will also make frequent checks on all camp facilities. Every Scout attending camp is required to have a physical examination prior to his arrival and a physical re-check will be given each Scout on Sunday afternoon as he checks in. The camp staff is ready to assist scoutmasters and provide an excellent week of campcraft Scout activities to their troops while they are at Ki-Ro-Li. Members of the senior camp staff have all attended a national camping school, where they took specialized courses related to their duties; and members of the junior staff, made up of outstanding older Scouts in the council, have just completed a week of intensified training on camping activities. The camp staff is made up of the following personnel: Camp director, Gerry Harrigill, field Scout executive; camp activities director, James Donnell, Winnsboro; aquatics director, Hal Bynum, Rayville; Bobby Freddy, troop 32, Monroe; Ralph King, troop 31,

JUNGLE JIM

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

As JIM'S JEEP CLIMBS TO THE ANCIENT RUINS OF PONAPPURA, AN ARROW WHIZZES ACROSS THE RADIATOR-- A WARNING, OR A BAD SHOT?

A TAMIL CHIEF STEPS FORTH: "THIS HOLY PLACE. NO LIKE STRANGERS. WHAT YOU WANT?" JIM SAYS, "WE'RE FRIENDS, LOOKING FOR A GIRL WITH YELLOW HAIR, WHO LIKES TO DIG--"

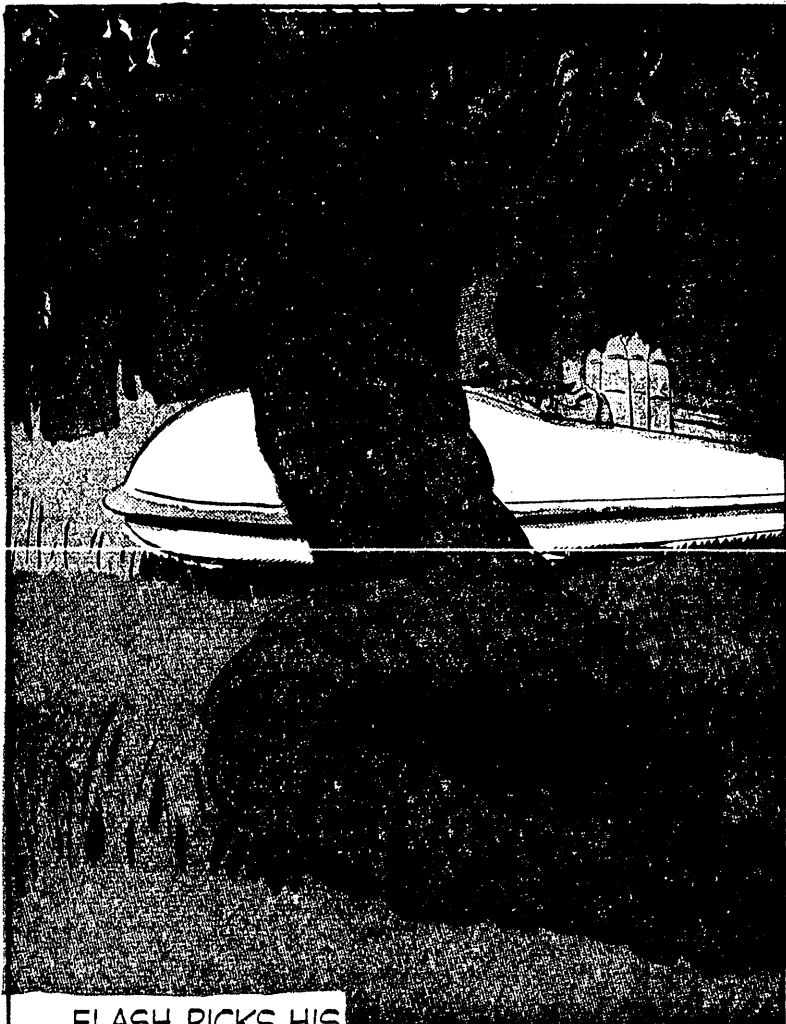

JIM SEES THE TAMILS GLANCE INVOLUNTARILY AROUND TOWARD THE TEMPLE, BUT CHIEF NUPA LIES, "NO FOREIGN MISSY HERE, NOW GO --- OR WE SHOOT!"

SECRET PATROL

GLITRA PROUDLY TELLS KING JUSTO, "FATHER, WE'LL BE MARRIED AFTER FLASH FULFILLS THE EARTH CUSTOM OF BUILDING ME A LITTLE HOUSE." VILAN FROWNS.

FLASH PICKS HIS OWN MATERIALS. TECHNO HELPS HIM: "WON'T THEY SUSPECT YOU'RE BUILDING A BOAT?" FLASH GRINS, "IT'S A HAVEN OF ROMANCE, A TOWER POINTING INTO THE SKY."

VILAN SPIES ON THEM, PUZZLED TO SEE THAT FLASH IS REALLY BUILDING A ROUND TOWER OF REINFORCED PLASTIC.

"BETTER GIVE UP AND BE MINE, DALE. FLASH MARRIES GLITRA WHEN HE ENDS THE PRELIMINARY RITES, THE EARTH CUSTOM OF BUILDING HER A HOUSE," VILAN COAXES. DALE, UNWARNED, SNIFFS JEALOUSLY, "WHAT CUSTOM? THAT'S NONSENSE."

VILAN SPREADS HIS SCANDAL: "DALE'S FROM THE EARTH, TOO--AND SHE SAYS THERE'S NO SUCH RITE!" FLASH THINKS FAST. "SHE'S JEALOUS, GLITRA, AND LIED TO MAKE US QUARREL!"

PUZZLED BUT VENGEFUL, VILAN STEALS OUT TO THE FAST-GROWING "TOWER." HE SNARLS, "CUSTOM OR TRICK, THIS WILL SMOKE OUT FLASH'S PLANS!"

NEXT WEEK: FOREST FIRE.

TARZAN

by EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

"IN THE POLYNESIAN LEGEND," McRAE SAID, "THE LOST CONTINENT IS CALLED MU-A-IO, OR FIRST WORLD. THAT'S OUR GOAL!"

"LEGENDS ARE WITCHES' TALES, McRAE," TARZAN DECLARED. "YOU'RE CHASING RAINBOWS." "YOU DARE QUESTION MY WORD?" THE SCIENTIST STORMED. "WE'LL SEE!"

AS THE SEAS GREW HIGHER, McRAE SUBMERGED, FINDING BOTTOM ON A BROAD SHELF AT 20 FATHOMS.

WHEN THE STORM PASSED, TRAVIS REPORTED THEY COULD NOT SURFACE. "WE'RE NOT EXPELLING BALLAST," HE ADDED. "OUR OUT-LET VALVE MUST BE BLOCKED!"

DONNING ONE OF McRAE'S INVENTED SKIN-TIGHT DIVING SUITS, TARZAN ELECTED TO HELP TRAVIS CLEAR THE OBSTRUCTION.

DROPPING FROM THE AIR CHAMBER TO THE SHELF, THE MEN TURNED TOWARD THE VESSEL'S STERN.

UNAWARE OF THE EIGHT-ARMED HORROR STALKING THEM, THE TWO MEN MADE THEIR WAY SLOWLY ALONG THE SUB-MARINE'S HULL.

HE SITS ON ONE CHAIR WHILE HE PAINTS THE OTHERS!

AFTER HE FINISHES TWO CHAIRS WHAT'LL HE SIT ON?

IT'D BE A 3-RING SHOW IF HE'D SIT ON ONE OF THE CHAIRS HE ALREADY HAS PAINTED!

I'D PAY TO SEE THAT! LET'S GO TALK TO HIM!

MAYBE WE CAN TAKE HIS MIND OFF HIS WORK!

EVER HEAR THE ONE ABOUT THE PAINTER UP ON A SCAFFOLD WHO STEPPED BACK TO ADMIRE HIS WORK?

PSHAH! THAT OLD SAW -- BUT I'M NOT THAT TYPE OF MAN.

I KEEP MY WITS ABOUT ME EVERY MINUTE -- MUST BE MY TRAINING AS A BIG GAME HUNTER AND SOLDIER!

THE PLASTER CAST OF A FOOTPRINT IS THE ONLY CLUE TO THE MEN BEHIND THE MYSTERY OF THE "TONE DEAF" DANCE BAND.

THAT FELLA'S FEET ARE ABOUT THE RIGHT SIZE, LEE! CAN YOU KEEP HIS ATTENTION WHILE I GET A PRINT OF HIS SHOES?

IF I CAN'T, I'M SLIPPIN'! I'LL PRETEND THAT I'VE LOST MY ROOM KEY!

DID YOU LOSE SOMETHIN', MA'AM?

ISN'T IT PROVOKING? I DROPPED MY ROOM KEY AND CAN'T FIND IT!

WELL, DEARIE, YOU CAME TO THE RIGHT MAN TO FIND IT! LOOKIE!

TOO BAD, MR. WARD, MAYBE YOU'D FIND ME A HANDY PARTNER HUNTING LOST GOLF BALLS.

YOU KNOW, MR. WARD, I MIGHT TAKE YOU UP ON THAT!

TEN MINUTES LATER IN THE BALL ROOM--

NO TWO SHOES WEAR EXACTLY ALIKE! NOTICE THE MARKINGS ON THE HEEL! THE SAME SHOE MADE BOTH PRINTS!

THEN MR. BORIS WARD'S OUR MAN, EASY?

NOW WE'VE GOT TO FIND OUT WHAT HE'S UP TO AND HOW HE'S WORKIN' IT-- AND I'VE A HUNCH WHERE TO LOOK!

GOOD HEAVENS, EASY! HAVE YOU GONE CRAZY?

THE POTTED PALM IS A LOGICAL HIDING PLACE FOR THIS

WHAT IS IT?

A BATTERY-EQUIPPED, RADIO-CONTROLLED MACHINE TO MAKE ULTRASONICS-- NOISE THAT CAN'T BE HEARD, BUT WHICH PUTS THE DANCE BAND ON THE BLINK!

AND THERE THIS CAPTAIN EASY SITS READIN' WITH A DOZEN EYE-WRECKIN' BEAUTIES ALL AROUND! HE'S DUMB, SLICK! DON'T WORRY ABOUT HIM!

HMM! I WONDER.

And He Said He'd Write Every Day!

NOT ONE LINE FROM BOB IN TWO WHOLE WEEKS! DO YOU THINK MY MAIL COULD HAVE GONE ASTRAY, SUE?

JULIE, I'M AFRAID IT'S YOUR M-A-I-L-E WHO'S GONE ASTRAY!

BUT OUR ROMANCE WAS PRACTICALLY SIGNED, SEALED AND DELIVERED! YOU KNOW IT WAS, SUE!

I KNOW, HONEY, BUT HAVEN'T YOU EVER NOTICED HOW FAST BAD BREATH CAN CANCEL ROMANCE? TALK TO YOUR DENTIST, JULIE, WON'T YOU?

JULIE SEES HER DENTIST!

"HERE'S WHY: COLGATE DENTAL CREAM HAS AN ACTIVE PENETRATING FOAM THAT GETS INTO THE HIDDEN CREVICES BETWEEN TEETH—HELPS CLEAN OUT DECAYING FOOD PARTICLES—STOP STAGNANT SALIVA ODORS—REMOVE THE CAUSE OF MUCH BAD BREATH. AND COLGATE'S SOFT POLISHING AGENT CLEANS ENAMEL THOROUGHLY, GENTLY, SAFELY!"

COLGATE DENTAL CREAM BRINGS OUT THE NATURAL SPARKLE OF YOUR TEETH, TOO! AND I SIMPLY LOVE COLGATE'S DELICIOUS WAKE-UP FLAVOR!

LATER—THANKS TO COLGATE DENTAL CREAM

COLGATE'S IS SELDOM KNOWN TO FAIL—NOW JULIE HAS HER FIRST-CLASS MALE!

IT CLEANS YOUR BREATH WHILE IT CLEANS YOUR TEETH!
